PUNJAB FARMER UNIONS CALL ALL-PARTY MEET MINUS BJP

Angry farmers are in no mood to allow parties to visit villages for campaigning in the run-up to the upcoming Assembly polls

MEETING CALLED FOLLOWING AKALI REQUEST

After a lengthy meeting at Singhu on the Delhi-Haryana border on Wednesday, 32 Punjab farmer unions decided to call a meeting of the representatives of all political parties fighting Punjab elections, minus the BJP, on September 10 (Friday) at Chandigarh. The decision was taken after the Shiromani Akali Dal sought such a meeting to explain its position

'CAMPAIGNING WILL WEAKEN AGITATION'

- "Doing poll campaign now is too early, plus it will dent the farmers' movement against the three Central laws," said Harinder Singh Lakhowal, general secretary, BKU (Lakhowal), Punjab
- Farm leaders had earlier said that no political party, especially the BJP, was welcome till the three farm laws were repealed | P10

India, Russia share Af terror overflow worry

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @New Delhi

WITH terror inextricably linked to the DNA of the government unveiled by the Taliban in Afghanistan, National Security Adviser Ajit Doval on Wednesday held separate meetings with his Russian counterpart Nikolai Patrushev and CIA chief Williams Burns. During the Doval-Patrushev meeting, both sides agreed to coordinate their approaches in multilateral formats on the developments in Afghanistan.

Nikolai Patrushev

Call to curb terror

Both Russia and India agreed on the need for Taliban to adhere to promises, curb global terror groups operating out of Afghanistan and their consequent threat to Central Asia and India, and smuggling

The Indian stress was on pressuring Pakistan to put a lid on terror overflow from Afghanistan. "We conveyed to the Russians that Pakistan has a special responsibility to ensure that Afghanistan soil is not used to spread terrorism," sources said.

Regarding the agenda of the Doval-Patrushev meeting, top officials said the political, security and humanitarian situation in the war-torn country and its possible implications on India and China was discussed at length. The role of drug cartels was also discussed with Doval and his counterpart assuring each other of cooperation to meet current and future threats and measures to assist Afghanistan.

Doval is understood to have underlined Pakistan deep state's symbiotic links with terror groups in Afghanistan, such as the Lashkar-e-Toiba and Jaish-e-Mohammed. He also expressed concern over security of minorities like Afghan Hindus and Sikhs who could not be evacuated.

Patrushev later met External Affairs Minister S Jaishankar and Prime Minister Narendra Modi. "The two sides reaffirmed their intention to strengthen coordination in the field of enhancing regional stability, including on the Afghan direction," a Russian Embassy statement said. The India-Russia meeting assumes significance as weeks ago, Russia and China had abstained from voting on a joint India-France-US-UK resolution on Afghanistan at the UN Security Council.

Earlier in the day, New Delhi shared its Afghan concerns with visiting security heads of Britain and the US, MI-6 chief Richard Moore and CIA chief William Burns, respectively.

Af protests gather steam

Anti-Taliban protests, led by women, continued on Wednesday with demonstrators saying they would not accept a government with no women ministers. Some protesters and journalists covering the event were reportedly beaten up before the protests were dispersed

THE Taliban's all-male government comprising its hardline leaders – many of them UN designated terrorists – has received a resounding thumbs-down from the international community. While the US raised concern about the terror affiliations and track records of the new ministers, the EU said the outfit reneged on its promise to make the government inclusive. Germany said it's "not optimistic" about Taliban. But, China welcomed the Taliban government and announced $31 million aid.

On the UN Security Council's terrorism blacklist are PM Mullah Mohammad Hasan Akhund and his deputies Abdul Ghani Baradar and Abdul Salam Hanafi. The others include economy minister Qari Din Hanif, deputy interior minister Maulvi Noor Jalal, water & energy minister Abdul Latif Mansoor and telecom minister Najibullah Haqqani. Interior minister Sirajuddin Haqqani is wanted by the FBI.

The 33-member interim Cabinet includes those released from the Guantanamo Bay prison by the Obama administration in 2014 in exchange for US Army deserter Bowe Bergdahl. These are Mullah Mohammad Fazil (deputy defence minister), Khairullah Khairkhwa (information & culture), Noorullah Noori (borders and tribal affairs) and Abdul Haq Wasiq (Director of Intelligence). Another US prisoner, Mohammad Nabi Omari, was appointed as governor of eastern Khost Province recently.

Meanwhile, Taliban's new education minister Noorullah Munir said higher education is useless. "No PhD or master's degree is valuable today. You see that the Taliban leaders have no PhD, MA or even a high school degree, but they are the greatest of all," he said, unwittingly explaining the militia's contempt for education. P12

Amid Covid wave, K'taka attracts ₹62K cr FDI in Q1

1 dead, 4 missing as ferry capsizes in Assam

PRASANTA MAZUMDAR
@Guwahati

ABOUT four people on board a crowded ferry were reported missing, while one body was found, as the boat sank in the flooded Brahmaputra in Assam shortly after a midstream collision with another tub on Wednesday. The accident occurred barely 100 metres from Neamatighat in Upper Assam's Jorhat district around 3.30 pm.

While officials earlier said around 35 were missing, Assam State Disaster Management Authority Chief Executive Officer G D Tripathi scaled the figure down to four past midnight, as contact had been established with most of the missing people. They swam ashore or were successfully rescued by locals.

The tragedy struck passengers of 'Maa Kamala', which had set sail for Kamalabari in river island Majuli from Neamatighat. It capsized moments after colliding with 'Tipkai', a bigger ferry that was en route to Neamatighat from Kamalabari.

Earlier in the evening, 42 people, including seven children, swam ashore or were rescued by the locals. "There was perhaps a communication problem as the boats collided. One capsized and sank. The second boat could have also capsized but the police and locals managed to secure it," Jorhat Superintendent of Police Ankur Jain told this newspaper. He said some 75 people were on board the capsized ferry.

"The boat that sank was retrieved around 350 metres away. The personnel of NDRF and SDRF are conducting the search and rescue operations," the SP added. While officials said such ferries carry around 70-80 people, locals claimed there were 100-120 passengers on board.

Ferries on the Brahmaputra operate under the Inland Water Transport Department. Tickets are not issued.

MAJULI'S LIFELINE

Spurt in illegal ambergris sale stumps police

MG CHETAN @Bengaluru

IN June, the KG Halli police, who were chasing a drug network, came across a strange object when they caught two persons on the suspicion of selling drugs. The duo turned out to be middlemen and even they were not sure what exactly they were carrying, but only knew that it was precious. The police took almost a day to conclude that it was ambergris a.k.a. floating gold.

Ever since the first such case was cracked in Karnataka, a few more similar cases came to light. On Wednesday, the Chikkajala police arrested four people who were allegedly trying to sell ambergris and have 11 kg of the product valued at ₹11 crore. The police had received a tip-off that some people were trying to sell ambergris near Ganganagar Circle on VIT Road.

"One of the accused hails from Tamil Nadu, while three others are residents of Bengaluru. We are questioning them to ascertain where they got the product from," police said. In all the cases, it is found that the accused smuggled ambergris from coastal areas and were trying to make a fortune by selling it, as its price is estimated to be around ₹1 crore per kg. P7

2 new sub-lineages of Delta variant in B'luru

CHETANA BELAGERE @ Bengaluru

WHILE the state war room's daily bulletin on Covid-19 figures presents a reassuring picture, two sub-lineages of the SARS-CoV-2 Delta variant — the AY4 and AY12 — have been detected in samples from Bengaluru, raising concerns among experts about a changing virus and the possibility of it developing the capability to evade antibodies generated through vaccination.

Strand Life Sciences, which did the sequencing here, was given a mandate by the Covid Task Force in Karnataka to start genome sequencing to help detect trends in mutations in the state. The sequencing revealed 30 per cent mutation in the Delta AY4 variant while it was just 3 per cent in AY12.

But a senior doctor, privy to the genome sequencing, explained to The New Indian Express, "However little the mutation, we cannot be complacent as no studies have been conducted as to what effects these can have. A layman would think this is very less mutation than the Delta variant, so it is safe. But virologists globally say that's not true, as it is changing its form. The mutation, even if little, may help the virus acquire some other mutation elsewhere. We still don't know, but it is definitely changing and it needs closer examination." The analysis said the virus was changing and Delta's sub-lineages are spread across Bengaluru Urban and are also picking up new mutations.

According to a recent bulletin of Indian SARS-CoV-2 Genomics Consortium (INSACOG), the AY12 sub-lineage was the one driving the Covid-19 surge in Israel, despite 60 per cent of that country's population covered by vaccination. P3

Palike to check roadside eateries

Vendors unhappy with the government's move; fear it will affect their livelihood

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

AS the number of Covid-19 cases is on the rise, along with fear of the Nipah virus and other airborne viral infections, health officials are keeping a close watch on hygiene and crowding at roadside eateries.

Bruhat Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike (BBMP) Chief Commissioner Gaurav Gupta told the media on Wednesday that directions have been issued to keep a check on them.

However, this has not gone down well with vendors and those who frequent these stalls. They point out that while the government is being lenient with restaurants and hotels, vendors are being targeted. According to the vendors, roadside eateries are their source of income and if they are closed, their livelihood will be affected.

However, health officials differ in their opinion. They said the government is worried about open cut fruit and vegetables, chaat stalls and non-vegetarian items being sold by vendors. Officials fear that these roadside eateries can be the cause for the spread of various infections.

Picture for representation purpose

"The government has not issued an order to close them down, but need to keep a close watch on them and ensure that safety and hygiene norms are practiced," said a BBMP health inspector.

However, those who patronise these counters say that while it is a good move on the part of the government to be concerned about people's health, they should also understand that it will affect the vendors' livelihood.

They are of the opinion that an alternate source of cheap and easily available food for people and new source of income for the vendors should be arranged by the government.

Docs warn of rise in viral infections

BOSKY KHANNA @ Bengaluru

AS the fear of Covid-19 and Nipah virus continues, doctors are also seeing a rise in viral infections and are warning patients to be cautious.

Physicians and pediatricians state that they are receiving more cases and this is because of the ongoing construction activities, including civil and road works in the city, dust during morning and evening hours because of the potholed roads, monsoon rains and vehicular emission.

Doctors and experts also warn that this could be the gradual start of the third wave. They are advising patients not just to wear masks, but to avoid going to public places, and opt to stay at home, unless essential.

While doctors consulting patients from their clinics are prescribing home quarantine and self-close monitoring, those consulting patients from hospitals are prescribing them Covid-19 tests, adhering to government rules.

Experts from the technical advisory committee, working with the government, also point that cases of viral infections are rising. "Last two years, during this time, viral cases were less as there were lockdowns and strict restrictions in place. This year, everything has opened up. Panic has hit more and they think that any cold- cough is Covid, but people have forgotten that it is monsoon period and Bengaluru is asthma capital. Viral infections are common, but now, as everyone is mentally and psychologically weak, they have become more vulnerable to fall ill," expert said.

"Over the last one week, we are seeing a rise in cases of children suffering from cold and fever. The symptoms look like of Covid-19, but it is a viral infection. So patients are being advised to stay indoors. We are also checking if adults are doubly vaccinated," he added.

Potholes filling work intensified

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

IN the wake of the rising complaints of bad road conditions and the recent death of a senior citizen after he fell and hit his head on the potholed road in the City, the BBMP has intensified the exercise of filling the potholes and inspecting them.

On Wednesday, BBMP Chief Commissioner Gaurav Gupta along with MLA Akhananda Srinivasmurthy and road engineer Prahalad , inspected the potholes in the City.

Gupta said that the tasks of filling and closing of the potholes on the arterial, sub-arterial roads, high-density corridors along with ward roads within BBMP limits, have been taken up.

He also visited Pulakeshinagar Bore Bund road and took stock of the pothole filling and road-cutting works. He said that the road maintenance work and filling up of potholes in all the eight zones in Bengaluru, have been undertaken. The Palike officials have also been instructed to ensure that the materials for the repair works are to be made available for the completion of the work.

Gupta insisted that while closing the potholes, the area around should be cleaned. He also instructed the officials to prioritise roads which are scarred with many potholes.

Teen TB patient survives 7 weeks on ECMO

RANJANI MADHAVAN @ Bengaluru

IN a rare case, a 16-year-old girl was put on ECMO (extracorporeal membrane oxygenation) treatment (a machine that does the work of the heart and lungs) for seven weeks, after contracting Tuberculosis (TB).

She was referred from another hospital after she complained of respiratory problems including fever, cough, and pneumonia. Since her lungs were damaged, neither ventilatory support nor medicines were improving her oxygen level. Her blood pressure dropped and she was on multiple high-dose medications to maintain acceptable blood pressure levels.

As the long-term use of a ventilator and other support systems poses the risk of damaging the organs, doctors, after discussing with the family members, went ahead with the ECMO "as an alternate option".

"Seven weeks is a long time for anyone to be on the ECMO. It is meant to give rest to the heart and lungs until they recover. Putting children on ECMO is not common and even if they are, it is usually for one to two weeks at the most. It is generally done post-heart surgery in children and this situation was unusual as she did not undergo any surgery," said Dr Shivakumar Shamarao, consultant - Paediatric Intensive Care Unit (PICU), Manipal Hospitals.

According to the doctor, the patient developed infection, kidney failure that required dialysis, and bleeding complications "which is a risk factor for ECMO owing to the high dose of blood thinners and liver dysfunction". They said that it was taking a "long time" for her lungs to recover, and they even discussed it with international centres offering ECMO but they could give an answer on how long the girl should be put on ECMO. Since they could not rule out chances of recovery and the family was hopeful, they went ahead with it.

"It took five weeks for her to show signs of recovery. Gradually, the ECMO support was brought down and the ventilator support was increased, which was later taken off. She underwent a procedure to help her breathe through the tracheostomy tube. She was finally discharged after nine weeks, on condition of oxygen support at home while continuing to breathe through the tracheostomy tube, as her lungs have not fully recovered. Follow-ups will continue until we deem her lungs are fit," Dr Shamarao adds.

09th September: We're now coming right under interesting lunar alignments, and I'd like to talk about tradition again. Some traditions claim that this is a perfect moment for doing nothing. Actually, I don't know about you, but I like to keep busy. If I sit around for five minutes, I get itchy fingers!

ARIES (Mar 21 - Apr. 20)
You'll be attracted by stability in partnerships, possibly in order to enable you to be more business like in other areas of your life without the distraction of emotional complications. Don't be afraid to strike out on a new path. You do need to make it clear to other people that you can't be rushed, though.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 - May 21)
There's now a chance of some dramatic interruptions to your normal routine. But there may be risks in a number of areas, so don't be impulsive and don't rise to silly, pointless provocations. And do get on with whatever work has come your way - you can't expect other people to do it for you.

GEMINI (May 22 - June 21)
Big changes are now happening in the financial department, and spectacular gains are likely if your affairs are properly organised. Turn tricky, unreliable trends to your advantage by examining all practical details and feeling your way forward very carefully.

CANCER (June 22 - July 23)
An electrifying development in your personal life will change your attitude to a current relationship, perhaps irrevocably, and almost certainly for the better. Social engagements will lead to great opportunities so long as you've put in sufficient effort.

LEO (July 24 - Aug. 23)
Most of the action will be behind the scenes. Your charitable instincts are well to the fore and you'll be able to demonstrate to all and sundry just how caring and selfless you can be. In any case, partners assume that they have a divine right to take first place.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 - Sept. 23)
A number of fascinating business propositions have been hanging fire. Now is the time to move forward to a new stage in your life, possibly involving a change in your circumstances, even an adjustment in your priorities. Travel plans could be subject to delay, so plan ahead and allow yourself enough time.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 - Oct. 23)
Even if lively events pass you by, you'll benefit from the spin-offs. Given that potentially turbulent developments at work or at home are under control, there's no reason why you shouldn't take a few risks and give your routine affairs a good break.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 - Nov. 22)
Swing into action and don't be put off by opposition from partners. Mars is now a staunch ally, confirming that all obstructions will be a blessing in disguise if they help you sharpen up your act. Old friends, people you've known for absolutely ages, seem to offer the best advice.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 - Dec. 22)
You may be caught off-guard by plots amongst both friends and rivals. If you are in any way worried about work, or indeed about developments at home, you can reassure yourself by getting to the facts as soon as you can. Then you'll see exactly what you have to do.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23 - Jan. 20)
The only chance of success lies in close co-operation with friends and colleagues. If you team up with the right people, a whole range of current projects will fall into place. However, you must expect partners to have their own ways of doing things.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 - Feb. 19)
It's a high-energy day, and an excellent time for you to take the initiative. If you stretch yourself to the utmost in all aspects of life, you'll have a hugely satisfying time. There is, to be sure, every reason to be confident about your long-range future.

PISCES (Feb. 20 - Mar 20)
Your recent confidence may be somewhat undermined by a series of unpredictable events, so try to stay one step ahead. If you play your cards right there'll be welcome social and personal benefits. A new friend or partner might take you back to your past.

Any vaccine better than no jab

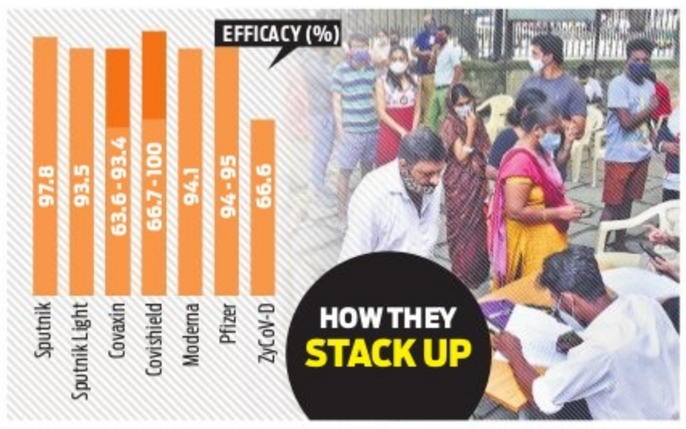
Experts say efficacy is similar, but there is no data on effectiveness against variants

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru:

DESPITE a difference in efficacy level, all vaccines are effective against Covid-19, and any vaccine is better than no vaccine, say doctors. Indian studies say that Covaxin is better than Covishield, though their efficacy is similar. However, these studies are limited.

Those travelling abroad are better off taking Covishield, which is approved by several countries, said Dr Subrata Das, Senior Consultant, Internal Medicine & Diabetology, Sakra World Hospital. "They all act in different modalities with the end goal of triggering immunity. They could be composed of a part of the virus, the whole inactivated virus, RNA of the virus, etc. Storing the Pfizer vaccine will be difficult in India as it has to be maintained at -15 degrees to -18 degrees Celsius. Russian studies show over 90 per cent efficacy for the Sputnik vaccine."

Those who have a history of thrombosis (blood clots), stroke, heart attack must take a non-Covishield vaccine, he adds. There is no need to check antibody levels after taking the vaccine, as some vaccines evoke T-cell immunity (long-term memory of the immune response). Studies against variants are limited, though companies claim effectiveness against them. We still don't have real-world data on this and need more time, Dr Das explained.



"On the ground, there is no major difference in efficacy. If we are looking at severity of the disease, mortality and hospitalisation, the vaccine is effective after taking both doses. Respiratory issues such as low oxygen are visible even after a person takes one dose," said Dr Anoop Amarnath, Head, Scientific Board and Chairman-Geriatric Medicine, Manipal Hospitals, and member of the state's Critical Care Support Team.

These vaccines were trialled in the first and second wave, hence, their effectiveness against variants is yet to be studied. There is not much data, and the Covid-19 vaccine may be similar to the Influenza vaccine, in that the composition might change as per prevalence of the strain, Dr Amarnath added.

"Primary efficacy data in both Covaxin and Covishield show they prevent moderate to severe disease with a rate of 65 per cent to 80 per cent. How much they diminish over time has not been studied yet. Sputnik reported 85-90 per cent efficacy, while Moderna and Pfizer have reported over 90 per cent, with the percentage falling to 40-70 per cent," said Dr Ravindra Mehta, Senior Consultant, and HoD, Pulmonology and Interventional Pulmonology, Apollo Speciality Hospital

Palike opens mega vax centres

ENS @ Bengaluru

THE BBMP on Wednesday opened a mega vaccination centre at Dr B R Ambedkar Bhavan in Yelahanka, in addition to two other camps -- Epidemic Diseases Hospital behind Swami Vivekananda Metro Station in East Zone, and Youngsters Kabaddi Club Ground in Malleswaram in West Zone.

BBMP Commissioner Gaurav Gupta said the aim of the mega vaccination camp is to ensure that every one takes the vaccine. So far, around 80% of those above 18 years of age have taken the first vaccine dose, and around 33% have taken both doses.

Special camps will be organised for slum-dwellers and low income groups. Talks are on with apartment complexes and resident welfare associations to reach out to as many people as possible.

These centres are walk-in and drive-in camps, and open at 6am and function till 8pm.

11 Gadag villages achieve 100 pc inoculation

Gadag: Around 50 villages of Gadag district will be completely vaccinated with the first dose within a week and till date, 11 villages have registered cent percent vaccination. Thanks to the relentless campaign by gram panchayats as they have both online and offline modes to ensure vaccination in their villages. As per official data, 98 percent of the targeted population have received the first shot of vaccine at several villages. ENS

DCGI APPROVES TRUENAT KIT TO DETECT NIPAH VIRUS

CHETANA BELAGERE @ Bengaluru

LIKE Covid-19, cases of Nipah virus can now be detected using Truenat test kit. The Truenat-MTB's Nipah virus kit, has been given the emergency approval by the Drug Controller General India (DCGI) for the commercial manufacturing licence of kits to detect Nipah virus.

The approval was given on Wednesday, confirms a statement by Molbio Diagnostics, a Goa-based Indian domestic firm which developed the kit in 2018, when the first Nipah virus outbreak happened in Kerala.

This test is said to help the country to diagnose the patients affected by Nipah virus faster. As the Truenat tests are now available across the country for the diagnosis of infectious diseases such as Tuberculosis (TB), Covid-19, and Hepatitis, testing for Nipah virus can now be performed rapidly on the affected people, resulting in early and quick diagnosis for effective management of the disease and containment of the spread of the virus.

"Covid-19 has brought out the importance of early and accurate testing for better managementof the disease. Truenat is the first platform to be authorised by the DGCI for Nipah virus testing," said Sriram Natarajan, Director and CEO of Molbio Diagnostics.

The platform claims to test for nearly 30 diseases, and results take less than an hour.

Many mutations yet to be reported on global databases

THE new lineages are being monitored closely by the consortium.

What is of concern is that many of the mutations are novel and not yet reported in global databases. The mutations that were found in the AY4 and AY12 Delta variants were N439K (present in 7 sequences), N440Y/T/F (present in 8 sequences), L441Y/S/G/A/C/D/V/I (in 7 sequences), D442I/V/Y/F (in 9 sequences), S443E/V/Y/W/F (in 7 sequences), and K444F/N/V/T/S/V (in 7 sequences).

According to earlier studies, variants with N439K mutation facilitate the fitness of the virus and enables it to evade antibody mediated immunity — which means these can change the behaviour of the virus.

The report submitted to the State Government has sought monitoring of cases closely to see if there is any increase in the frequency of these mutations, especially because the effect of many other mutations on the virus has not been observed and "the presence of these mutations might signal for a new variant.

Farmers to lay siege to Soudha

Karnataka Rajya Raitha Sangha and Hasiru Sene state honorary president H R Basavarajappa has said that farmers will lay siege to Vidhana Soudha on the first day of the legislature session (September 13) demanding that the government not implement the three new farm laws passed by the Centre, among other demands

CM wraps up Delhi trip with nod for bagful of projects

With session to start on Sept 13, cabinet expansion may have to wait

DEVARAJ B HIREHALLI
@ Bengaluru

Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai greets Union Minister Nitin Gadkari in New Delhi on Wednesday as Revenue Minister R Ashoka looks on.

DEVELOPMENT issues dominated Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai's trip to the national capital as he wound up his two-day visit, having met several Union ministers to push for clearances for certain projects, some which have been pending for long. It is expected that these will come as a package for Karnataka in the coming days.

Unlike his three earlier visits, where politics, including cabinet expansion and distribution of portfolios dominated the agenda, the CM seems to have created some breathing space for himself.

Before boarding a flight back to Bengaluru on Wednesday, the CM called on BJP national president J P Nadda but there was no clarity on where he got the nod to fill the four vacant berths in his cabinet. According to sources, except for appointments to some boards and corporations, the cabinet expansion issue did not come for the discussion. With the 10-day Assembly session starting on September 13, the pressure will be off the CM, at least for the time being.

The endorsement of his leadership by both Union Home Minister Amit Shah and party general secretary in charge of Karnataka, Arun Singh, during their recent visits to the state, has only cemented his position, while sending a clear message to dissidents.

During his two-day stay in Delhi, Bommai vigorously followed up on various projects, both new and pending, with the Union ministers concerned. Interestingly, the memoranda also mentioned his predecessor B S Yediyurappa, as some of the projects were conceived when he was the CM.

The CM was visibly at ease when he addressed the press in New Delhi. "Firstly, we set right the land acquisition issue with respect to the Satellite Town Ring Road (STRR) from Dobbspet to Hosur, taken up under Bharatmala Pariyojana-I. We have agreed to share 30 per cent of the cost (Rs 1,560 crore) and give exemption on KGST on steel and cement by capping the share up to 50 per cent", he said after holding discussions with Road Transport and Highways Minister Nitin Gadkari.

Work on the STRR will commence in six months and the project will help reduce's Bengaluru traffic congestion by half, he observed, while terming the decision as path-breaking as it had been pending for several years.

He also listed out projects such as four-laning of Shiradi Ghat for which Gadkari gave his consent to take it up on priority, but after consulting experts regarding an alternative tunnel, extending the Vijayapura-Sankeshwar highway up to 160 kms, developing the Naragund-Kushtagi, Karwar-Kaiga roads among others. The Union minister has also promised to release Rs 184 crore for repair of roads affected by floods, Bommai pointed out.

"It has also been decided to set up an electronics and hardware park and a manufacturing cluster on 400 acres between Bengaluru and Kolar. Besides, a skill development centre will be set up at some other location," the CM noted after calling on Union Minister of State for Skill Development and Entrepreneurship, Rajeev Chandrashekar.

ULB POLLS

JDS keeps guessing game on, sends 4 Kalaburagi councillors into safe zone

BANSY KALAPPA @ Bengaluru

ONCE again, the JDS finds itself as kingmaker. The party has shepherded its four Kalaburagi councillors into a safe house in Bengaluru, to stave off advances by the Congress and BJP, locked in a battle for supremacy in the Kalaburagi Mahanagara Palike (KMP).

The big two, who are short of numbers in the 55-member House, are ready to pay big money to poach the four councillors, who hold the key to power. JDS leader and former Chief Minister H D Kumaraswamy confirmed to TNIE that the foursome has been brought to Bengaluru, and he is holding meetings with them. He also confirmed that the BJP and Congress have offered to pay the councillors -- N Appaji Gowda, Sandesh Nagaraj, CR Manohar and Kanthraj BML – Rs 75 lakh each.

Asked which party the JDS would support, Kumaraswamy said he has not yet taken a decision, and has left it to the four councillors. The party is driving a hard bargain, with the councillors demanding that the JDS be given two of five terms as mayor, and three standing committees of their choice.

"We will decide all this after the Mayor and Deputy Mayor election dates are announced. My priority is not so much these civic elections. I have told the councillors that my priority is to win the two assembly constituencies of Gulbarga Dakshin and Gulbarga Uttar. We want to win 100 assembly seats overall across the state," Kumaraswamy said.

All three parties will now try to get maximum share in the upcoming Legislative Council polls for 25 seats from the Urban Local Body constituencies, where elections are due in a few months, and would like to maximise representation through its four seats in KMP.

BJP has an edge over Congress in K'buragi

NAUSHAD BIJAPUR @ Belagavi

AFTER a close clash in the recent local body election, both the BJP and Congress are struggling to achieve a majority in the 55-member Kalaburagi Mahanagara Palike (KMP). It is almost certain that the BJP will emerge as the ruling group in KMP and Hubballi-Dharwad Municipal Corporation. Having scored a good majority in Belagavi City Corporation, the BJP is set to capture all three ULBs.

Besides the 55 elected councillors, six local people's representatives also have the right to vote in the upcoming mayoral election, as per the KMC Act. According to sources, the party which manages to get the support of four JDS councillors in KMP will reach the magic figure of 31. All eyes are now on JDS State President HK Kumaraswamy, as Congress and BJP are leaving no stone unturned to get to the majority mark. Amid attempts by both national parties to rope in the JDS foursome, sources said the MLAs have already landed in Bengaluru on the directions of Kumaraswamy, and are waiting for their leader to decide which party they should support. The JDS may extend conditional support to the BJP, with regard to seat-sharing in KMP, sources said, adding that a JDS councillor will become mayor at least for two terms, if the two parties join hands.

Despite winning 33 seats in the 82-member HDMC, the Congress is no match for the BJP as the latter was able to surpass the majority mark comfortably, with 39 seats already in its kitty. Given the strong base it already has in HDMC, the BJP may not require the support of others.

Congress leader Ismail Tamatgar said the Congress was not keen on winning the mayoral polls in the HDMC as it lacked the numbers.

The BJP has a bright chance of gaining a majority in all three ULBs. Congress leader Sharanprakash Patil, who is in Kalaburgi, is still hopeful of getting JDS support.

Cong failed to capitalise on public anger against BJP in HDMC polls

PRAMODKUMAR VAIDYA @ Hubballi

THOUGH the BJP faced huge anti-incumbency, the Congress failed to cash in on it and improve its tally in the Hubballi-Dharwad Municipal Corporation (HDMC) elections. The reason, according to political pundits, is that the Congress failed to project itself as a credible alternative.

Since the BJP was in power in the HDMC for the previous two terms and a majority of MLAs in the twin cities belong to it, it was expected that the party will retain power. Also, the party is ruling the state for the past two years, and it was felt that this factor could have a bearing on the civic body poll outcome.

The BJP has tried to develop the twin cities, but the bad condition of roads, irregular drinking water supply, incomplete civic works and other issues have angered voters. People were vocal about it both on public and online platforms. This provided a good opportunity for opponents to project alternative ideas for development. Political observers say though the Congress was well aware of it, it did not show enough zeal to channelise public anger to work in its favour. "Its every effort to counter the BJP's claims went wrong, starting from the selection of candidates to campaigning. The party was never seen as a united force to take on the BJP," they added.

Unhappy with the BJP, a majority of middle class voters did not come out in large numbers to vote. The party won in 33 wards, thanks to its core voters.

A Congress leader, was mostly in agreement with the assessment and said though top party leaders campaigned, local leaders did not work unitedly. The entry of AIMIM and Asaduddin Owaisi's visit were also factors for the poll debacle and should serve as a warning for the Congress, he conceded. Congress city unit president Altaf Hallur openly admitted that mistakes were committed in the selection of candidates. He, however, did not buy the argument that the party has not worked hard to highlight the failures of the BJP. "We worked hard, otherwise the party would not have won 33 wards," he said. Hallur agreed that many voters did not vote to register their anger.

Satish blames lack of unity for Cong debacle

BELAGAVI: KPCC working president Satish Jarkiholi on Wednesday said that the Congress lost at least in 8 wards in the recent Belagavi City Corporation polls owing to lack of coordination between leaders of Belaagvi North and South Assembly segments. The party had expected to win at least 20-25 seats, but ended by winning just 10. He said the Congress tally would have crossed 25 if the leaders had taken the polls seriously. He, however, said five Independents are with the party. He said more than 3-4 MES backed candidates contested in every ward which benefited the BJP.

Cong wants rule on height of Ganesha idols scrapped

ENS @ Bengaluru

THE Congress has demanded that the State Government withdraw the restrictions imposed on height of Ganesha idols in the state ahead of Ganesha Chaturthi. The government had recently said that the height of Ganesha idols at public places and in houses should be more than 4ft and 2ft, respectively.

In a press statement issued here on Wednesday, KPCC president DK Shivakumar said that by imposing such a restriction, the government was playing with the life of thousands of idol makers who spent money and energy on making large idols. "The idol makers have made lakhs of Ganesha idols. If the government was keen on imposing such restrictions, then it should have done it 2-3 months back," he said. He demanded the government to withdraw the order or compensate the idol makers.

Reiterating that he was not against Covid-19 laws, Shivakumar said, "We are just questioning the unscientific decision," he said. "Should the idols, which are more than 4ft, be placed in front of the houses of decision-makers?" he said, demanding that the decision-makers purchase the idols.

Nirani lauds Udyoga Mitra

ON the reforms to help industrialists, Nirani promised that the government has been aiming to score 100 points on all parameters in the coming days.

Appreciating the Karnataka Udyoga Mitra, the state's single window agency for investments, for becoming the country's top Investment Promotion Agency (IPA), Nirani said, "The National Investment Promotion and Facilitation Agency 'Invest India' has rated Karnataka Udyoga Mitra as the top IPA in the country among the 20 states which were considered for ranking. Karnataka Udyoga Mitra has scored centum in four of the eight categories, including investment projects, their facilitation, aftercare and managing the website." He said the ranking was a matter of pride for the state.

"Its role in providing clear information to investors — like opportunities, procedures and necessary facilities — are very crucial. We have removed hurdles for investors by easing many policies and provided assistance to start industries," Nirani elaborated. "Invest India has lauded Udyoga Mitra's foresightedness and the proactive steps in this competitive platform," he added. Nirani warned that the department will start issuing notices to individuals and companies that had been allotted land by the KIADB and are not utilising them for the stated purpose.

AIMIM factor a headache for Congress, JDS

RAMU PATIL @ Bengaluru

THE performance of All India Majlis-e-Ittehad-ul-Muslimeen (AIMIM) in the recent urban local body elections seems to be a cause of concern for Congress and JDS as they are concerned over the splitting of minority votes, that will benefit the BJP in future. AIMIM managed to win four seats, just one less than the JDS' five in Hubballi-Dharwad, Kalaburagi and Belagavi corporation polls.

While Congress and JDS leaders do not recognise AIMIM as a big force in Karnataka, they do admit that division of even a small number of votes will make a difference in closely contested seats. "AIMIM secures 2,000-3,000 votes and that helps the BJP," said a senior Congress leader, who also blamed the JDS for dividing minority votes. "It played spoilsport in the ULB elections, but that may not happen in the Assembly polls. However, the party will discuss both AIMIM and the JDS splitting minority votes," the leader said.

JDS leader YSV Datta said they need to be cautious about the division of secular votes. KPCC working president Saleem Ahmed said there is an understanding between the BJP and AIMIM to divide votes. "It is BJP's B-team," he said. Congress and JDS may have to rework their election strategies, keeping the AIMIM factor in mind. But the AIMIM, buoyed by the response at Asaduddin Owaisi's rallies and the results, is already planning to contest the upcoming zilla and taluk panchayat elections as well as 2023 Assembly polls. "We will contest over 50 seats in the Assembly elections. Many said we will not win a single seat in the ULB elections, but we managed to win three seats in Hubballi-Dharwad and lost in three seats with a narrow margin. We also won one seat in Belagavi," said AIMIM state president Usman Gani.

Gani dismissed the allegations that it is BJP's B-team or dividing minority votes. AIMIM failed to make a mark in Kalaburagi, indicating that it is not an easy task for the party to woo minority voters in all seats, especially if the Congress is seen as a strong force to take on BJP.

Kageri said so far he has received 18 Bills. "The session will see starred and unstared questions followed by a 30-minute discussion on various issues. Apart from this, we will also have Zero Hour. Kageri further added that the prohibition on the public from watching the proceedings from the viewers' gallery will be lifted. There was a ban in earlier sessions owing to the Covid-19 pandemic. He, however, maintained that children would not be allowed this time.

'Best MLA award'

A best MLA award has been constituted, which will be presented on the last day of the session, Kageri added. The winner will be selected based on his or her behaviour in the House, participation in the proceedings and the work implemented by them in their respective constituencies. According to sources, former minister and senior Congress MLA RV Deshpande's name has been finalised for the award.

The Amruthahalli police arrested three members of the Bawaria gang and recovered valuables worth Rs 6.50 lakh. In another case, cops nabbed a suspect who had stolen mobile phones from a delivery vehicle, and recovered 21 new handsets worth Rs 5 lakh.

THE Tamil Nadu Assembly on Wednesday passed a resolution urging the Union government to repeal the Citizenship Amendment Act (CAA), 2019, by voice vote as the BJP walked out to register its protest. With this, TN becomes the eighth State to adopt such a resolution after Kerala, Punjab, Rajasthan, West Bengal, Madhya Pradesh, Chhattisgarh, and Telangana. The Union Territory of Puducherry, too, had adopted a similar resolution in 2020.

BJP MLAs walk out of the Tamil Nadu Assemly in Chennai on Wednesday | P JAWAHAR

The resolution moved by Chief Minister MK Stalin said, "This august House considers that the CAA passed by Parliament in 2019 is not in tune with the secular principles laid down in our Constitution and also not conducive to the communal harmony that prevails in India."

"As per established democratic principles, a country should be governed taking into consideration the aspirations and concerns of people belonging to all sections of the society. But it is seen that the CAA was passed in such a way that it does not accord warm support to the refugees considering their plight, but instead discriminates against them according to their religion and country of origin," the resolution stated.

While DMK allies -- Congress, TVK, MDMK, CPI, CPM, VCK, and MMK -- welcomed the move and extended their support to the resolution, only PMK from the Opposition joined them. MLAs from the BJP opposed the resolution and staged a walk-out, and didn't return till the end of the morning session. BJP floor leader, Nainar Nagendran, reasoned that the CAA was brought in to protect the minorities of neighbouring countries since they were subjected to discrimination by the majority population there.

Rly security wants drones off limits

S LALITHA @Bengaluru

THE Centre's new Drone Policy announced a fortnight ago has sent alarm bells ringing among security agencies tasked with ensuring safety of passengers and railway stations in Karnataka. Packed with people, the stations are vulnerable and drones make it easy to transport dangerous material, said sources.

According to a top railway source, the Government Railway Police (GRP) has sent recommendations to top officials in the South Western Railway Zone as well as the Intelligence Bureau, on the dangers inherent in the liberalised policy. A list has been drawn up of stations which need to declared as 'No-Fly Zones for Drones', the source said.

The new policy, released on August 26, has done away with the need for drone operators to get security clearance before registering a drone or seeking licence for it. Certificate of airworthiness, unique identification number and remote private licence for entities engaged in Research and Development of drones have also been removed.

A security audit, conducted by the GRP six weeks ago, had come up with a list of 20 Sensitive and 12 hypersensitive railway stations in the state. Drawing up on the list, it has requested that no-fly zones be declared, at least in the hypersensitive stations, including KSR (Bengaluru City), Yeswanthpur, Kalaburagi and Hubballi, and the sensitive stations.

A top security official pointed out that drones could be used along railway tracks to capture other aspects as well as conduct recces before attacks. "The danger and vulnerability is definitely there. That is why we are keen on seeking exemption from drone operation for key railway stations with high footfalls," he said.

A top railway official said that such a policy decision will be taken by the Aviation Ministry for railway stations across the country.

Huge demand for ambergris in Europe

THOUGH the smugglers had tried their luck at selling it, the buyer(s) was not identified. A solid waxy substance originating in the intestine of the sperm whale, ambergris is highly prized as it is used as a fixative and ingredient in fine perfumes. It is also used in medicines and is in huge demand in European countries.

Deputy Commissioner of Police (East) Dr Sharanappa S D told TNIE that the first case related to ambergris was traced when the police were after a drug network. "It took us time to confirm that it was ambergris. The arrested middlemen had got it from a Kolar resident, who knew it was precious and had stocked it for a long time. By the time we arrested the duo, the Kolar resident had died due to Covid-19. However, we found out that he had sourced it from Chennai. The middlemen had not yet identified the customer," he said.

In August, the S J Park police arrested four people and seized 20 kg of ambergris. Investigations revealed that one of the accused was renting huge fishing nets at Malpe in Udupi district. When the fishermen returned, ambergris was stuck to the net and he collected them. "He admitted that he came to know of its value after seeing media reports on the arrest of people for trying to sell ambergris," a police officer said. The police have booked at least a dozen cases related to ambergris sale over the last three months.

IGP (Forest Cell) K V Sharath Chandra said, "We can't say there was no smuggling of ambergris earlier. But now, the cases are increasing because of awareness about its value. Smugglers in the coastal belt smuggle ambergris in ships through their network of agents to foreign countries."

Unclaimed insurance transferred to seniors' welfare fund: Regulator

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

RECORDING the statement by the Insurance Regulatory Authority of India (IRDAI) that the insurance companies have transferred unclaimed amounts of policyholders of Rs 81.65 crore in March 2018 and Rs 398.66 crore in March 2019 to the Senior Citizens Welfare Fund (SCWF), the Karnataka High Court on Wednesday disposed of public interest litigation.

IN THE HC

The petition sought directions to the Life Insurance Corporation of India (LIC) and IRDAI to take suitable action to formulate a policy for disbursement of the unclaimed amounts to the successors or legal heirs or nominees.

A division bench of Acting Chief Justice Satish Chandra Sharma and Justice Sachin Shankar Magadum disposed of the petition filed by the Legal Attorneys and Barristers.

In its statement, the IRDAI stated that the Government of India has enacted the Senior Citizens Welfare Fund Act, 2015, as a part of the Finance Act, 2015, which mandates the transfer of unclaimed amounts to the SCWF after a period of 10 years. Accordingly, all insurers with unclaimed amounts of policyholders for a period of more than 10 years as on September 30, 2017 should be transferred to the SCWF on or before March 1, 2018.

In view of this, the court said that a mechanism has already been established. Therefore, this court is of the opinion to dispose of the petition accordingly.

The counsel for LIC categorically stated before the court, as per directions by IRDAI, amount is transferred from time to time to the SCWF and information of unclaimed amount is available in the LIC website.

NEED TO FIND MIDDLE GROUND TO RESOLVE FARMERS' AGITATION

After a hiatus of several months, the ongoing agitation by farmers against the three farm laws appears to be gaining momentum again. After a massive show of strength in Muzaffarnagar on Sunday, where thousands gathered for a mahapanchayat and called for the ouster of the BJP in the Uttar Pradesh elections due next year, the farmers have shifted their focus to Karnal in Haryana, where there is a mini secretariat for CM Manohar Lal Khattar to operate from. While the Muzaffarnagar gathering was called to display their level of support and make a larger political point through agitational tactics, the Karnal protest is only for a limited purpose. All that the protestors are demanding is compensation for a farmer who allegedly died in police action during their protest on August 28, aid for other farmers injured during the clashes and the registration of a criminal case against the then SDM Ayush Sinha, who asked police personnel to break the heads of farmers. Even if it is assumed that the demands are unjustified, they are not intractable as all the three conditions lie in the administrative domain and the farmers could have been assuaged if they were handled with tact. But the Khattar government chose to deploy bureaucrats and police officers to negotiate with the agitating cultivators to not go ahead with the protest. Given the magnitude of support the farmers enjoy and the attention the movement has drawn, the political leadership of the Haryana government should have engaged with the farmers. But with the talks failing and the farmers beginning their indefinite siege of the secretariat, Karnal is staring at the spectre of going the Singhu border and Tikri way, where the farmers are still gathered in protest, although in significantly fewer numbers.

The revival of sorts of the agitation brings into question the continued impasse over the farm laws. In a few days, the protests, which have claimed the lives of hundreds of agitators and cost the exchequer crores of rupees, will complete a year. It is time both sides shed their intransigence, climb down from their maximalist positions and explore a middle ground keeping in mind the national and public good.

BEWARE OF EMERGENCE OF MONOPOLIES

Healthy competition is good for a market economy—yet it has the tendency to move towards a monopoly or duopoly. Competition, which is the essence of a market economy, could itself be the victim in a dog-eat-dog economy with a few large players taking control of specific sectors. Technology and digitisation—seen as great levellers—have ironically helped the emergence of monopolies across the globe. India is witnessing a similar trend across different sectors with one or two large cash-rich corporations slowly but surely emerging as sector leaders dwarfing competitors. The consolidation in India Inc. has only been hastened, earlier by a slowing economy (since 2016-17), and later by the pandemic. In some sectors, the capitulations of companies could partly be attributed to policy uncertainty or regulatory arbitrariness as well.

Once vibrant, the telecom sector is now trying hard to avoid a duopoly of Reliance Jio and Airtel. Vodafone Idea is barely hanging on by the skin of its teeth. After ignoring this for years, and even supporting the rise of a particular player, the Centre seems to have woken up to the need to prevent monopolisation of the sector. In our start-up ecosystem, Byju's has been one of the success stories, but as it goes on an aggressive expansion spree—both domestically as well as internationally—the signs of monopoly emerge. It has so far made eight acquisitions in 2021 and 13 since 2017. Adani Enterprises is entering into every possible sector, is already the leader in some—ports and airports—and making deep inroads into others like power. Amazon and Flipkart have been in the crosshairs of the government and association of small retailers for anti-competitive practices. We are not even getting started on Google and Facebook, which are seen as a global challenge as far as competition laws are concerned.

The question of monopoly and competition is a double-edged sword, and it can cut both ways. Being overly sensitive about anti-competitive practices or even monopoly can kill innovations and emergence of new efficient players. But ignoring tell-tale signs of anti-competitive practices for too long can also lead to undesirable consequences. The government should not take sides and address this issue.

Hindustan Lever had to completely reorient itself. It developed an enormous appetite for organic growth, something that industrial licencing had thwarted till 1991

TRANSFORMATION OF HLL DURING LIBERALISATION

BUILDING BUSINESSES

Over the last several months, I have commented on two sides of the leadership coin: first, shaping a good company into a business institution and second, transforming traditional organisations. I have received suggestions that I should illustrate the transformational efforts of Hindustan Lever and Tata by recounting their responses to the cataclysmic challenges presented by liberalisation in 1991. Since enough time has elapsed, the narrative could be instructive. I will attempt to present first Hindustan Lever (HLL), and, next month, Tata, by addressing three questions:

i) What went on inside the companies as liberalisation unfolded?
ii) What new degrees of freedom did the companies obtain from liberalisation?
iii) What were their dilemmas and how did they resolve them?

HLL and Tata are two storied business groups with over a century of existence through decades of colonialism, socialism, liberalisation and nationalism; they responded and renewed through this whole period. HLL was and is the most Indian multinational company and Tata the most multinational Indian business group.

HLL: In 1990, the new chairman, Susim Datta, inherited a strong company despite the preceding licence-permit raj. The vexatious issue of 51% foreign equity for Unilever under FERA had lasted through the 1970s and 1980s. It got resolved through the strenuous efforts of the two previous chairmen over a decade-long process of advocacy. Being a FERA company, HLL had not been allowed to increase its own production or source from third parties. Therefore, the company could not respond effectively to the detergent market share threat posed by Nirma since the early 1970s.

HLL grabbed the invitation of the Punjab government to buy into the equity of a sick, government-owned detergent company, Stepan Chemicals. Being outside the ambit of FERA, Stepan Chemicals was permitted to outsource products from third parties. What a circuitous route to enhance production capacity! To adapt to FERA, HLL had entered the chemicals and exports businesses, both of which had reasonably stabilised. But if there were to be liberalisation, these just-stabilised businesses would face fresh challenges.

Since the early 1980s, the winds of change wafted through government corridors. These winds did not develop into a strong gale because of political impediments. In 1990, it became obvious to Susim Datta that dramatic change was around the corner, though nobody knew what the change would be and how dramatic it would be.

For many decades, international business leaders had advocated liberal, free and consumer-driven markets as a panacea for Indian development. Their advocacy came alive with possibility in May 1991, when Prime Minister P V Narasimha Rao (industry portfolio), Dr Manmohan Singh (finance portfolio) and P Chidambaram (commerce portfolio) embarked on liberalising industry and trade. HLL was psychologically prepared for big change; however there was no clear company plan because the contours of the change were unknown.

Early during liberalisation, the company engaged Professor Sumantra Ghoshal of the London Business School to work with the leadership team. HLL developed alternative scenarios along with an aggressive vision: to double sales every four years and double profits-after-tax every three years. This was akin to a pilot aiming to break the sound barrier with no prior experience of a sonic boom—the pace of change would increase to a level that nobody had experienced before.

> Since the early 1980s, the winds of change wafted through government corridors. In 1990, it became obvious to HLL's Susim Datta that dramatic change was around the corner, though nobody knew what it would be

The six factories that had existed since the 1960s were sold or closed over time due to labour issues, product obsolescence or uncompetitive cost structures. Now, HLL could set up new capacities without the painful process of applying for industrial licences. Even before 1991, HLL had built a couple of new factories, thanks to a government policy for industrially backward areas of the country. Modern factories with new work practices were put up. Such a renewal of manufacturing could just not have been contemplated, let alone executed, during the licence-permit days.

Susim Datta later recounted, "I would like to believe that, although the initial problems were very large, in the end this dispersal of the manufacturing facilities helped the company—it certainly did during the years I was there. It was against this backdrop that HLL settled into a period of growth, an era of mergers and acquisitions, and a period when there was a lot of media attention on us."

Another aspect that HLL had to completely reorient was consumer research. Due to global exposure through media, the consumer would change rapidly, her expectations would escalate sharply and competition would aggressively track these developments. The expenditure on consumer research was upped progressively. New techniques like Simulated Test Markets, Sequential Recycling and Qualitative Research were implemented.

HLL developed an enormous appetite for organic growth, something that industrial licencing had thwarted all these years. This aspect of the company did not fetch newspaper headlines but some of the biggest successes were achieved through organic growth. The company's large detergents division led the charge by adopting a target of making and marketing 1 million tonnes by 1994. Before liberalisation, HLL's detergent division was selling about 450,000 tonnes. This new ambition and drive to get growth to reach a million tonnes by 1994 was perceived as big, hairy, audacious and gutsy. HLL achieved this growth by organic means by building completely new factories and by backing chosen brands that included Wheel detergent bars.

In the next article, I will present the story of how Tata responded to liberalisation. Thereafter, I will interweave the responses of both companies.

SHIVA AS LINGA AND LINGIN & A SCULPTURE IN TN

SAURABH SAXENA

Founder of Puratattva, a documentation of heritage sites

Kodumbalur, a village in Pudukkottai district of Tamil Nadu, is famous for Moovar Koil, a magnificent temple complex of the Irukkuvel period of the ninth century CE. The antiquity of the village goes back to the Tamil epic period of Silappatikaram where it is mentioned as Kodumbai, situated by the bund of a large tank on the way from Uraiyur (now a neighbourhood in Tiruchirappalli) to Madura (modern Madurai). Moovar Koil, meaning "three temples" in Tamil, is aptly named; while the temple complex originally consisted of three temples, only two have survived. Moovar Koil represents the glorious art tradition and sculptural style of the Irukkuvel period of ninth-tenth century CE.

The construction of the temple complex was sponsored by the Irukkuvel king Bhuti Vikramakesari, who consecrated the gods on behalf of himself and his two queens, Karrali and Varaguna. All three temples are dedicated to Shiva and present a varied and diverse iconography. Among the myriad images adorning the temple walls, Shiva is found as Bhikshatana, Ardhanarishvara, Dakshinamurti, Gangadhara, Vinadhara, Harihara, Kalari, Natesha, Tripurankata, Gajasmaharamurti, etc.

There is a very interesting sculpture showing Shiva with a linga emerging behind him. Shiva is shown with four arms and is seated in maharajalilasana-mudra. He holds a deer in his upper left hand while his upper right hand is placed over the top of a linga, the latter shown emerging behind his shoulder. His lower left hand is placed over his knees and his lower right hand is placed over Nandi; the latter is represented in his zoomorphic form sitting next to Shiva. Similar sculptures, though not very large in number, are also found in Aihole, Pattadakal, Ellora, Kanchipuram and a few other places.

What is the significance of the linga being shown with Shiva in this sculpture? Scholars have interpreted this icon as Lingadhara or Lingin. In Shiva-Purana, Lord Krishna asks Upamanyu what a linga is and how Shiva is a Lingin. And Upamanyu replies that the unmanifest is the linga and Shiva is Lingin since he commands the linga. In the linga lies the universe wherein it merges and dissolves. It has no beginning or end. Linga is the body of Shiva and it can do nothing itself without being commanded by Shiva. Linga-Purana explains Shiva as Lingin on similar lines stating he is the supreme and is characterised by linga. As Shiva is avyakta (unmanifest) and characterised thus, he is Lingin. The relationship between linga and lingin is also discussed in various philosophical texts (or mimamsas) in the context of anumana (inferences). Like the presence of smoke indicates fire, similarly, linga is a symbol or sign that indicates the presence of Shiva. In this manner, a linga acts as a container to contain Lingin (Shiva).

Shiva Lingin from Moovar Koil, Kodumbalur

A reference to linga-lingini is also found in the famous Pallava inscription of King Mahendravarman I (580-630 CE) from the Tiruchirappalli Rockfort upper cave-temple. The relevant lines in the inscription are:

"Gunabhara naamani rajanyena lingena lingini jnanam prathatam chiraya loke vipaksavritteh paravrittam"

Scholars have variously interpreted these lines and the attached conundrum. The intention here is not to discuss the inscription and its intricacies in detail, but to suggest that these lines may also be interpreted to mean that king Gunabhara was well versed in Shaivite texts and philosophy, allowing him to attain the knowledge of linga and lingin, which otherwise was not attainable commonly. And this knowledge let him turn back from hostile conduct and let it be known to the world.

Shiva shown holding a linga over his shoulders in the Moovar Koil sculpture is also taken by scholars as a representation of the practice of carrying ishta-lingas or movable lingas in the Lingayat, Veerashaiva and Aradhya-Brahmin communities. In Veerashaiva literature, a jangama (moving linga) is considered superior to a stationary linga. While the earliest icon of Shiva carrying a linga goes back to the Kushan period, the Veerashaiva and Lingayat movements are placed much later in time. Also, both these sects did not have much influence in the Tamil Nadu region where our sculpture is located. This icon also has been associated with the Bharashiva kings, who as per inscriptions, carried a linga over their bodies (lingodvahana). However, here Shiva is not shown carrying the linga over his body with upraised arms; so, association of the icon with the Bharashiva dynasty may be contestable.

In my opinion, this sculpture reaffirms Shiva's association with linga. Shiva has been worshipped in linga (form) since the ancient period, and linga has been also associated with primitive phallus worship. This icon probably vindicates the disassociation of linga with that worship. It propagates a message that linga is as adorable to Shiva as for any devotee adoring a linga. It confirms that the linga and Shiva (Lingin) are inseparable, the former indicates the latter, and the latter is invoked within the former. While linga represents the nishkala (formless) aspect of Shiva, his bodily image represents his sakala (form) aspect. In this sculpture we find a conjoined view showing both the forms, nishkala and sakala or Linga and Lingin.

Cabinet made of terrorists

The Afghanistan Cabinet has no women in it but has a few recognised terrorists as ministers holding important portfolios. It'll be interesting to see how the world reacts and deals with such terrorist ministers. It may be difficult for India to recognise such a government, but if we do not, the Taliban may seek every opportunity to engage against J&K. Diplomacy is key at this juncture.
K Nehru Patnaik, Visakhapatnam

No women in new govt

The much-awaited formation of the Afghanistan government finally took shape on Tuesday, with veteran leader Mullah Mohammad Hassan Akhund as the head of the new dispensation. Overall, the Taliban announced a number of ministers and other top officials, but there are no women in this government. Will the Taliban live up to its promise of a broad-based, inclusive and internationally accepted regime?
N J Ravi Chander, Bengaluru

Unwarranted decision

Allotting a separate room for Muslim legislators to offer namaz in the Jharkhand state Assembly building is unwarranted. Such gestures point out how political parties bend over backwards to please the minority communities. When elections are around the corner, such religion-based controversies are unnecessarily raked up by the parties.
R Sridharan, Chennai

No one was wearing a mask

The picture of farmers agitating in Haryana's Karnal showed how not a single person was wearing a mask. Such blatant callousness will only defeat the nation's fight against the pandemic. The government, instead of suspending the internet in Haryana, should have fined each and every agitating farmer or the unions leading them stiffly for flouting Covid protocol.
Dr George Jacob, Kochi

Don't waste state's money

The Madras High Court's directive to the Tamil Nadu government not to print pictures of netas on educational material like textbooks, notebooks, bags, etc., is a step in the right direction. Vast sums of money are spent by various governments on publicity. Very little is left over for the improvement of infrastructure and civil amenities.
R Pichumani, Kumbakonam

HC order welcome

The Madras HC's order should be welcomed by all. Publicity by politicians in power on educational material should be dispensed with from now on, not just in TN but all over the nation. The HC must also be wary of new ways the political bigwigs will use to try and circumvent the law in this regard.
Parthasarathy Mandadi, Tirupati

It will weaken GOP further

It is surprising that the Congress has decided to not field a candidate against West Bengal CM Mamata Banerjee in the upcoming Bhabanipur bypolls. When a majority of the state unit wanted to contest against Mamata, this decision will only weaken the party. The GOP seems more worried about defeating the BJP than about its own future.

Terror faces in Af Cabinet makes New Delhi uneasy

Presence of Haqqani in ministry means India must remain vigilant

PUSHKAR BANAKAR @New Delhi

WITH the Taliban appointing several UN-sanctioned terrorists in its Cabinet, including Siraj Haqqani of the Haqqani Network, security concerns have grown in New Delhi.

Experts believe the Taliban's move was not surprising and that New Delhi would be prepared to deal with the new Taliban government in Afghanistan despite the presence of Haqqani, who is considered close to the ISI and Al-Qaeda.

"There is a wider section of people asserting that the Taliban government will lead to augmented insecurity in India. However, the situation is still unfolding and there are strong apprehensions that the Afghanistan-Pakistan border will become more volatile and force Islamabad to maintain its focus more in that region. More importantly, it is pertinent to recall that the biggest threat to Indian security for long has been from ISI, which has used its terror proxies operating out of Pakistani soil against India," said Ajit Kumar Singh, Research Fellow at the Institute of Conflict Management.

"There was never a period when ISI was not relentless in its nefarious design to destabilise India. Yet, India has minimised the threat due to the security establishment attuning itself as per demands of the new challenges," added Singh.

Russia-based analyst Andrew Korybko said although New Delhi may have concerns over Haqqani's presence in the Cabinet, it cannot do anything about it. "At most, New Delhi can refuse to recognise the acting government or pragmatically engage with it while pressuring others to do the same. But if someone else decides to still engage with it, India will be powerless to stop them. It can only rely on informational means to discredit these authorities," he said.

Singh thinks the Indian security establishment has gained experience in counter-terrorism. "Consequently, there is no such imminent threat due to change of guard in Afghanistan. But there is no scope for complacency and vigil on ground must be increased."

Security concerns have been high since Tuesday after the Taliban declared the formation of its government. Haqqani's inclusion caught the attention of officials in New Delhi as his group had been involved in bombing at the Indian Embassy in Kabul. He is known to have close ties with anti-India organisations.

A former diplomat, who did not wish to be named, said there was no surprise in the inclusion of UN-sanctioned terrorists. "I am sure this came as no surprise to New Delhi. The challenge now will be to make sure that Afghan soil is not used by anti-India organisations to spread terror. India must keep engaging with the Taliban and also partner countries to put pressure on them to ensure that Afghan soil does not become a safe haven for terrorists," he said.

'Better to wait before judging new Taliban'

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @New Delhi

INDIA is ready to give time to the Taliban to stay true to its words before any judgement is made about their intentions, said a senior government functionary on Wednesday.

Speaking on the condition of anonymity, he said, "As of now, the Taliban has said it will not interfere with Kashmir. So let's not doubt their statement." Replying to the question of the Taliban's effect on Kashmir, the source added, "We are prepared to handle any situation in Kashmir. There have been the presence of foreign terrorists earlier also and we had successfully dealt with them.

Anas Haqqani had told the media last week that Kashmir is not part of its jurisdiction. But, within two days, Suhail Shaheen had said that as Muslims, the Taliban has rights to support Muslims in Kashmir or any other country. But Taliban leader Sher Muhammed Stanakzai had asked India to continue with its development and humanitarian activities.

The officer pointed out that if the Taliban has not changed from what it was 20 years back, then it will be a problem for the world and India. More than that it will be a problem for the women of Afghanistan.

Vector control failure causing UP fever

SUMI SUKANYA DUTTA @New Delhi

A Central team sent to western Uttar Pradesh last week to investigate a deadly outbreak of "mystery fever" has said in its report to the Union health ministry that poor hygiene and inadequate vector control may be leading to a surge in monsoon diseases this year.

The cause of the fever that has claimed nearly 100 lives, mostly children, in Firozabad and adjoining districts has been identified as a combination of dengue, scrub typhus and leptospirosis — all spread through vectors.

Firozabad and Mathura alone have recorded more than 1,000 cases in the last two weeks and the outbreak has also spread to some pockets of eastern UP and other parts. Firozabad has been worst affected and it reported as many as 105 fresh cases of dengue and viral fever on Sunday.

A top official of the National Centre for Disease Control, which sent five officials to the states, told this newspaper that vector control measures during the rainy season look particularly bad this year. "I cannot comment on the reasons but it is poor vector control and bad hygiene in semi urban and urban areas that seems to be leading to this major outbreak of vector-borne diseases," he said.

Scrub typhus is a bacterial fever spread through bites from chiggers, or larval mites, found in bushes. Its symptoms include fever, headache and body ache, which later progress to rashes and inflammation of the nervous system which can cause confusion and even coma. Leptospirosis, also a bacterial disease, spreads through the urine of infected animals and has similar symptoms. Dengue, on the other hand, is a viral infection that spreads through the bite of infected mosquitoes and patients often suffer fever, muscle and joint pain. In extreme cases, blood platelet count drops, leading to internal bleeding and possible death.

Maintaining hygiene in rainy season inadequate

Officials of the National Centre for Disease Control believe that maintaining hygiene in semi-urban and urban areas during the rainy season has been a problem, leading to vector-borne diseases.

District health authorities in Firozabad have released Gambusia fish that feeds on mosquito larvae, in ponds around the district and asked schools not to hold classes till Class 8 till September 16.

Samiran Panda, chief epidemiologist with ICMR, said long term measures like behaviour changes and raising awareness are a must to contain the viral outbreak during the rainy season that kills hundreds.

Reports of viral fever in other states poured in too. In Delhi, while 104 dengue cases are reported every day, major government hospitals are recording 50-60 cases of viral fever a day, from 15-20 earlier.

In Bihar, health department officials confirmed the sharp rise in cases of viral fever with symptoms of vector disease like dengue. Most of the patients are children brought after they experienced fever with body ache and other symptoms. At Patna AIIMS, which has 60 beds in paediatric wards, 80% are occupied with children down with viral fever.

Priyanka set to launch Congress' UP campaign in Lucknow on October 2

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @New Delhi

THE Congress is expected to start its campaign for Uttar Pradesh elections on the occasion of Gandhi Jayanti on October 2 from Lucknow and the plan will be given the final go-ahead by Congress general secretary Priyanka Gandhi Vadra during her visit to the state capital later this week.

During her visit on September 10-11, she is scheduled to hold meetings with party functionaries and state election and advisory committees to chalk out strategy for the Assembly elections early next year.

The party is planning to hold a big rally in Lucknow on October 2 that will be addressed by Priyanka and other senior party leaders to launch the party's campaign. This comes at a time when the party is looking at a revival in the key state. The party in 2017 had contested elections in alliance with Samajwadi Party and won only seven seats.

Uttar Pradesh Congress chief Ajay Kumar Lallu has made it clear that the party will not tie up with bigger parties in the state. Rather, it will be looking at alliances with smaller parties. The party candidates who won elections and those who stood in second position in 2017 are expected to be fielded again this time.

The grand old party has held training workshops for party workers and leaders ahead of the elections.

Rahul to visit Jammu

Congress leader Rahul Gandhi will be on a two-day visit to Jammu from Thursday, during which he will pay obeisance at the Mata Vaishno Devi shrine in Katra.

Gandhi will leave for Jammu on Thursday and participate in the evening 'aarti' at the temple. He will stay at the shrine board's guesthouse, sources said. The former Congress chief will address a workers' convention at Jammu on Friday and meet separate delegations of local leaders during a luncheon meeting, they said. He will return to Delhi late in the evening, party sources said.

Operational Theatre Commands 2-3 years away

MAYANK SINGH @New Delhi

THE process of raising the staff and structure has been set rolling as the individual services have been asked to nominate one officer as the Theatre Commander, who will be entrusted the duty of creating positions according to the task and hierarchy.

It will take two-three years for the complete structure to take shape. "The Theatre Commander will have his staff officers, including Deputy Theatre Commander, who will be the Commander of the Commands which will get subsumed into the said theatre command," he added.

A government source informed, "Services have been told to nominate one Theatre Commander each from the Army, Navy and Air Force. In the case of the Army, the Western Army Commander has been nominated to hold the dual charge of Army Commander and Theatre Commander." The Air Force and Navy are in the process of finalising, said the source.

Initially, there will be four Theatre Commands — Western Theatre Command and Eastern Theatre Command (handling operations against China) on land and one each for air and maritime. "The Northern Command and AOC Jammu and Kashmir under the Western Air Command have been excluded and a decision on it will be taken subsequently," said the source. The Northern Command handles borders with both Pakistan and China.

Centre-Naga peace pact

New Delhi: In a significant development in the Naga peace process, the Centre on Wednesday entered into a peace pact for a period of one year with the National Socialist Council of Nagaland (NSCN-K) led by Niki Sumi on whom the NIA had announced a reward of ₹10 lakh for killing 18 Indian Army soldiers in Manipur in 2015. The Sumi-led Khaplang faction of NSCN-K had unilaterally abrogated its 2001 ceasefire agreement with the Centre in 2015, following which the Union Ministry of Home Affairs had declared the group a banned outfit and an "unlawful association".

NDA inducting women, apex court told

PTI @New Delhi

THE Centre informed the Supreme Court on Wednesday that the armed forces have decided to induct women into the National Defence Academy (NDA). Additional Solicitor General Aishwarya Bhati, appearing for the Centre, told a bench headed by Justice SK Kaul a decision has been taken at the highest level of the armed forces as also the government that women will be inducted for permanent commission through the NDA.

The ASG sought the apex court's permission to place details on record through affidavit and sought status quo in this year's exams as this needs procedure and infrastructural changes. The court said it has been periodically nudging the authorities to do it themselves and it believes they are best suited to evolve the whole.

"The idea is when nothing happens, the court steps in. Let me assure you it's not a happy situation to step in and we would like the armed services to do it themselves. They are very respected forces of the country but on gender equality they have to do more and sometimes the resistance does not come out well," said the bench, also comprising Justice MM Sundresh. The matter is listed after two weeks.

COVID EFFECT

Budget hotels struggle as upscale ones enjoy business boom

FAYAZ WANI, HARPREET BAJWA, PRASANTA MAZUMDAR
@Srinagar/Chandigarh/Guwahati

THE hospitality industry in hill stations is witnessing a change in pattern in the aftermath of the pandemic.

High-end hotels in Kashmir, Shimla and Shillong are having heavy occupancy, while budget hotels are hardly getting visitors. With many foreign destinations closed, wealthy tourists are going to these places and staying in upscale facilities. But budget tourists are yet to start holidaying, leaving the hotels dependent on them struggling.

In Kashmir, all five and four star hotels are booked, said Abdul Wahid, president of Kashmir Hotels and Restaurant Owners Federation. He added that this rush was noticed as soon as Covid-19 restrictions were lifted. Deluxe houseboats in Dal Lake, too, are sold out. In July and August, over 98,500 tourists visited Kashmir. Only 275 were foreigners.

Abdul Rashid, general secretary of Kashmir Houseboat Owners Association, said 80-85 deluxe houseboats are witnessing high occupancy, but the rest of the 800-odd houseboats are clocking just 10% to 20%.

Meanwhile, a tour and travel operator blamed hoteliers for budget tourists not coming to the Valley in large numbers.

"With the income of middle and lower middle class families hit by Covid, rise in hotel rents is deterring prospective tourists," he said.

In Himachal Pradesh too, many budget hotels are on the verge of closure. Only upscale hotels and home stays are doing business.

"Five-star properties are having occupancy of around 40% to 50%, which has come down from 80%. Budget hotels those used to have 70%-80% occupancy are getting around 30%," said Sanjay Sood, president of Shimla Hotel and Restaurant Association.

It's not different in Meghalaya. Parambir Singh Sehdave, president of the Federation of Shillong Hotels, said hotels and guesthouses rely much on budget tourists, who are yet to arrive.

Veterans cheer women cadets' entry into NDA

BALA CHAUHAN @Bengaluru

BARRING combat roles, women officers in the Indian Army have been engaged in sensitive operations in the supporting arm, working alongside their male colleagues. But it has been a long journey, fraught with a collective battle for gender parity in the Armed Forces.

In a landmark move, the Centre on Wednesday told the Supreme Court that women cadets can get into the National Defence Academy (NDA). "This is, indeed, a big step forward for women officers. The NDA is one of the finest defence academies in the world and trains cadets as future warriors and generals," said two veteran women Army officers, Capt Amrit Kaur (Retd) and Major Lekha Nair (Retd.)

"Entry of women in NDA is a welcome decision. It is a recognition of gender equality in the defence forces," said Major Nair (Retd). "The NDA provides tri-services camaraderie which is also required among women officers serving in the three services. This move will enable a number of young girls who are keen on a career in the armed forces to begin their journey at a young age, and adapt themselves better to service requirements. It is a delayed but just decision towards gender-neutral armed forces," said Major Nair (Retd). "The entry of girls into NDA is a most awaited and welcome step. Thanks to our judiciary for setting the record straight. But it calls for a definite change of mindset. Women cadets should be tested on the same footing as men and treated as equals," said Capt Kaur (Retd).

"The NDA is a premier tri-services institute that trains the warriors and generals of the future. Some may ask if women officers would be able to stand the test of time. Well, as true as it is in the case of men, many women may not be able to, but why deny this golden opportunity to the ones who can, they may do better and outperform their male counterparts?" she said, adding that women have recently started getting inducted into the CMP (military police) as other ranks and also in Assam Rifles. "It is evident that women are carving a path into roles that were never seen as their domain. Let us create an army of men and women who together shall serve their nation with honour and dignity," she added.

WINDS OF CHANGE

Women were inducted as commissioned officers in the Army in 1992. The Supreme Court in February 2020 directed that the women short service commission (SSC) officers should be granted permanent commission (PC). The Ministry of Defence in July last year issued the formal Government Sanction Letter for grant of PC to SSC women officers in all the 10 streams of the Army in which they presently served. In November last year, 277 out of 615 SSC women officers were given PC. On July 14 this year, 147 more were granted PC. The candidature of 28 has been rejected on the grounds that they were unfit. The results of 72 officers has been withheld.

Hundreds of farmers hold a sit-in protest outside the Mini Secretariat in Haryana's Karnal on Wednesday | PTI

Punjab farmers call all-party meet on polls

Will warn political parties not to enter villages campaigning for Assembly election

HARPREET BAJWA @Chandigarh

In Punjab, angry farmers are in no mood to let political parties do campaigning for election in villages across the state, saying campaigning now, months before elections, only serves to divert public attention away from farmers' protests. The farmers' unions have on Wednesday decided to meet representatives of all the political parties, excluding the BJP, on Friday (September 10) to listen to their viewpoint on farmer's issues.

Confirming the meeting, Harinder Singh Lakhowal, the General Secretary of BKU(Lakhowal), Punjab told this newspaper, "the farmers unions have called a meeting of representatives of all political parties fighting the Punjab elections. But representatives from the BJP are not invited for Friday's meeting to be held in Chandigarh. We will talk to them and ask for their views, and then, accordingly decide. As of now, it is too early to do poll campaigning, it will dent the farmers' movement against the Centre's three farm laws.

This decision was taken as the Shiromani Akali Dal wrote a letter to all unions asking them for a date and time to meet to explain their side of the story. "Also, it was decided in the meeting that from September 12 onwards, more farmers will be sent to both Singhu and Tikri borders," he said.

Sources said that the farmers are in no mood to allow the political parties to camping for the upcoming polls in the rural areas till the Election Commission officially declares the code of conduct in the state.

> Farmer leader

"Why political parties are campaigning so many months in advance? Earlier, they used to start campaigning just before the polls. Why is there a sudden change? Are they afraid," said a farmer leader.

The farmer' unions said they have told all political parties, especially the BJP, that they are not welcome to villages till the Centre repeals the three farm laws and brings in a law guaranteeing Minimum Support Price (MSP) for every crop. In more than 200 villages across the state, most of them in the Malwa region, the local units of Sanyukt Kisan Morcha have banned the entry of politicians.

Protests on at Karnal as talks with admin fails

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Chandigarh

FARMERS' protests have been going on for more than nine months at Singhu and Tikri border near Delhi. Now, Karnal in Haryana is becoming a third protest site, as talks between farmer leaders and district administration remained inconclusive for the second day.

Farmers have been demanding that the district administration suspend Sub Divisional Magistrate Ayush Sinha and register a case against him. Sinha was caught on camera directing policemen to "break the heads" of farmers.

A large number of farmers from Haryana, Punjab and Uttar Pradesh are now squatting at the gates of the Mini Secretariat in Karnal.

"Talks with officials of the Karnal district administration went on for three hours, but remained inconclusive, as officers are not ready to suspend Ayush Sinha and register a case against him. Thus, now we have decided to continue our protests here. We will protest here till our demands are met. Now, Karnal is another centre of protest like the Delhi borders," farmer leader Rakesh Tikait said.

"Now we have pitched tents and are ready for the long haul. The district administrations are defending the IAS officer responsible for the lathicharge on farmers," he said.

Raj BJP leader faces problems from within

RAJESH ASNANI @Jaipur

SHARPENING the rift in the Rajasthan BJP, former speaker and senior BJP MLA Kailash Meghwal will bring a censure motion against the party's current Leader of Opposition, Gulab Chand Kataria. Meghwal has written a letter to the state BJP chief Satish Poonia informing him about his decision and has asked Poonia to preside over the BJP legislature meeting where he will introduce the censure motion.

In a letter also sent to national BJP President J P Nadda, Kailash Meghwal has claimed that Kataria's irresponsible statements have damaged the party in recent by-elections. Significantly, he also alleged that Kataria had taken huge sums of money for distributing tickets in the past.

Meghwal's move, just ahead of the monsoon session of the Rajasthan Assembly, is set to intensify the infighting in the BJP as he is considered a strong supporter of Vasundhra Raje.

In his letter, Meghwal claimed that he will bring a censure proposal condemning Kataria during the meeting of party legislators. The resolution will be to condemn Kataria for his statements on Maharana Pratap and Lord Rama, which 'caused loss to the party' during the recent by-elections, according to Meghwal's letter to Poonia written on September 4.

Meghwal, in his letter, also asserted that though Kataria tries to project a clean image of himself, under his watch, posts and party tickets were sold for lakhs and crores in the past. Meghwal even stated that but for RSS backing for Kataria, numerous people will speak out against him.

Meghwal has also revealed in his letter that in 2008, some senior BJP leaders of the state, namely Gulab Chand Kataria, Ghanshyam Tiwari and Arun Chaturvedi had vowed to not support Vasundhara Raje. But for his own selfish interests, Kataria was the first one to break this vow and switched over to the Raje camp. Besides BJP national president JP Nadda, Meghwal has sent copies of his letter to several senior leaders including RSS chief Mohan Bhagwat, Union Home Minister Amit Shah.

Bengal BJP grapples with cadre exodus

PRANAB MONDAL @Kolkata

WITH weeks left for the by-election in Bhawanipore, the foundation of the Bengal unit of the BJP seems to be shaken to the core with largescale migration of foot-soldiers to the ruling Trinamool Congress.

The party had its presence in 50,000 booths out of the nearly 79,000 in the state before the high-decibel elections that concluded in May. It has now been reduced to 40,000.

Sources in the party said 20 to 25 per cent of booth workers have stopped attending the party's meetings since past two months, and the party leadership fears they are about to join the TMC. The higher rung of the BJP also received a set back after four of its elected MLAs defected to the TMC, reducing the party's legislative count to 71 from 77.

The internal grassroot-level assessment of the BJP came to light after the party's national leader Shiv Prakash, during a three-day meet with Bengal functionaries last month, asked to submit a report about the saffron camp's present ground-level strength in the state.

"Other than defection of the four elected legislators, including former national vice-president Mukul Roy, a large section of our party workers snapped all communication with us. The report submitted by committees at the mandal level has revealed that 20 to 25 per cent of booth workers have stopped attending meetings and they are leaning politically towards the ruling party," said a senior BJP leader.

In south Bengal districts, TMC turncoats, who joined the saffron camp, were seen queuing up in front of the local offices of the ruling party seeking apology. "In some of the places, they even staged hunger strike and pleaded to allow them to return to the fold of the ruling party."

SRINAGAR

Homes of four Kashmir journos raided, phones seized

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Srinagar

THE police on Wednesday raided the residences of four journalists in Srinagar.

Three of the journalists—Hilal Mir, Shah Abbas and Azhar Qadri—have been contributing articles for international publications while Showket Ahmed Motta was the editor of a local monthly news magazine called Kashmir Narrator. The magazine, however, stopped publication in 2019.

Sources said the police seized laptops and mobile phones of the journalists and their spouses and conducted thorough searches of their houses.

After the raids, the four were summoned to the local police station, where they were interrogated.

However, it is not known why the residences of these four journalists were raided. The police have not given any reasons for the raids.

The raids took place after a recent statement by Inspector General of Police (IGP) Kashmir Vijay Kumar that several media outlets, including the Kashmir Media Service, which are run from Pakistan, have been trying to spread fake news and videos to instigate violence after the death of separatist leader Syed Ali Geelani.

"Even a few local media persons and channels have been found spreading fake news. We are observing them and are maintaining evidence. Appropriate action will be taken against them. Such elements are advised not to spread fake news without consulting law enforcement agencies," the Inspector General of Police had stated.

'PUBLISH PANEL REPORT ON AGRI LAWS'

SUDHIR SURYAWANSHI @Mumbai

Anil Ghanwat, farmer leader and one of the members of the Supreme Court-constituted committee to study the Central farm laws, says it has been five months since the report was report but the top court is silent. Excerpts from the interview:

What should the government do to end the farmers' agitation?
The Supreme Court constituted a committee of experts and farmer leaders to study the agri laws and submit a comprehensive report that can end the deadlock between the farmers and government. we humbly requested the Supreme Court that the report should be made public so that the farmers and the government will get a clear picture and that may help to end this impasse.

So, the report will bring a solution and end the deadlock between the farmers and government?
We are not claiming our report is 100 per cent right and it should be accepted in totality.

What should the Supreme Court do now?
The Supreme Court should make our report public. If they were not serious, then why did they constitute the committee in the first place? Why did we toil to prepare the report? Then, questions arise whether it was just a 'drama' to set up the committee, ask it to prepare the report and then put it in cold storage?

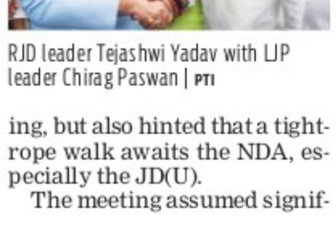
What is your view about the Kisan Mahapanchayat at Muzaffarnagar in UP?
It is a good thing that the farmers have been continuously protesting to repeal the farm laws. If the' movement takes a political turn, then it will lose steam.

Tejashwi, Chirag meet sets off Bihar rumour mills

RAJESH KUMAR THAKUR @Patna

AMID speculation that Bihar's LJP and RJD will join hands against the BJP and JD(U), two young leaders from either party Chirag Paswan of LJP and Tejashwi Yadav of RJD met on Wednesday for the first time since the recent Assembly elections.

The young leaders demonstrated good chemistry between them during the meeting and the subsequent media briefing. This has not only gotten the rumour mills churning, but also hinted that a tightrope walk awaits the NDA, especially the JD(U).



RJD leader Tejashwi Yadav with LJP leader Chirag Paswan | PTI

The meeting assumed significance as it comes following a statement by RJD leader Lalu Prasad Yadav that Chirag Paswan has established himself as the leader in Bihar, and that both Tejashwi Yadav and Chirag Paswan should come together. Though neither of the two leaders spoke anything about the possible political alignment in the future, the chemistry they displayed is a reflection of the growing political affinity between them.

"Chirag Paswan is like a member of my family. I have learned a lot when I entered politics in 2010 form honourable (late) Ram Vilas Paswan," Tejashwi Yadav told the media. Chirag Paswan, addressing Tejashwi Yadav as bhai said his father Ram Vilas Paswan had a very close and cordial relationship with Lalu Prasad Yadav and the two worked closely with each other.

"My father always maintained a cordial relation with leaders of all parties. I have come to invite Tejashwi bhai and family to my father's first death anniversary function," Chirag said.

Maharashtra Chief minister Uddhav Thackeray told his alliance partners that he does not want to meet each and every minister and MLAs of each party. If there are any issues, it must be brought through party leaders like Ajit Pawar, Jayant Patil, Balasaheb Thorat and Ashok Chavan in the Congress. Only party leaders should meet Thackeray . Earlier, ministers and MLAs from Sena's allies used to frequently visit the chief minister at his office in Mantralaya or Varsha, the official residence of the chief minister. Now, it is not the case. The chief minister is available, but has to be approached through the proper channel, sources in the chief minister's office said

Revati Mohite Dere is a very independent and erudite mind. However, Deshmukh's petition will be heard by another judge now.

Alliance with MNS puts BJP in tight spot

The BJP is in a tight spot over it alliance with Raj Thackeray-led MNS for BMC elections. BJP, in 2017, won 83 seats in the 227-member corporation. This time, the party wants to snatch power from Sena in BMC. Therefore, it desperately needed to stitch together an alliance with MNS. Raj Thackeray is a good orator and the BJP hopes it can seek his help in building narrative against the Sena, however, at the same time, the BJP is worried about Thackeray's perceived anti-north Indian stance.

DEADLY BLAZE HIGHLIGHTS SYSTEMIC PROBLEMS

Jakarta: Indonesia's prisons have long been a hotbed of problems. Tangerang prison was built to hold 900 prisoners but currently has more than 2,000. Block C, where the fire broke out early Wednesday, houses primarily drug offenders. Its 19 cells, meant to hold 40 inmates, had more than triple that. More than half of the inmates in Indonesia's prison system have been convicted in the country's war on drugs. In an amnesty last year meant to reduce numbers as Covid rampaged through the prisons early in the pandemic, the government released tens of thousands of people who served at least two-thirds of their sentences. According to the department of corrections, as of July, there were 2,68,610 inmates in Indonesia's prisons, which were built to hold 1,32,107. A study in 2018 found there was only one officer for every 55 inmates. AP

Fire kills 41 in Indonesian prison

19 cells built to hold 40 inmates were stuffed full with over triple that number, say reports

JAKARTA

A MASSIVE fire raged through an overcrowded prison near Indonesia's capital early Wednesday, killing at least 41 inmates, two of them foreigners serving drug sentences, and injuring 80 others.

Firefighters battled through the early morning hours to extinguish the flames as black smoke billowed from the compound of the Tangerang prison on the outskirts of Jakarta.

After the blaze was extinguished, ambulance after ambulance filled with body bags containing the victims were driven by Red Cross workers to the morgue of a local hospital, where they were stacked wall-to-wall on the floor of a room awaiting transport to a larger facility for identification.

Relatives of prisoners trickled in to the prison throughout the day to check and see if their loved ones were among those killed.

Most of the 41 killed were drug convicts, including a man from South Africa and a man from Portugal, while other victims included a terrorism convict and a murderer, Indonesia's Law and Human Rights minister Yasona Laoly told reporters. He expressed his deep condolences for the families of the victims and pledged to provide the best treatment for those injured.

"This is a tragedy that concerns all of us," Laoly said. "We are working closely with all relevant parties to investigate the causes."

The fire broke out around 1.45am on Wednesday in Block C2 of the Tangerang prison, where the 19 cells that were built to hold 40 inmates were stuffed full with more than triple that number as per reports. The cause of the blaze appears to have been an electrical short circuit, according to initial findings, Jakarta Police Chief Fadil Imran said.

As the fire was brought under control, hundreds of police and soldiers were deployed around the prison to prevent prisoners from escaping, Imran told reporters near the scene.

In addition to those who died in the Tangerang fire, eight inmates were hospitalised with severe burns and nine with light injuries were treated at a prison clinic, the Ministry of Law and Human Rights said. Another 64, many suffering smoke inhalation, were evacuated to a mosque in the compound for observation.

The 15 corrections officers guarding the cell block were unhurt, said Rika Aprianti, spokesperson for the corrections department.

Agus Toyib, who heads the Banten provincial law and human rights office, which oversees Tangerang, said understaffing at the prison led to delays in rescuing inmates from their locked cells. "Most victims caught fire as they didn't have enough time to get out of their cells," he said. AP

Anti-Taliban force vows resistance to 'pariah' govt

KABUL

AFGHANISTAN'S last resistance group denounced on Wednesday the Taliban's new interim government as "illegitimate" and destined for "pariah" status, after its leader Ahmad Massoud called for a nationwide uprising against the country's Islamist rulers.

Led by the son of legendary resistance fighter Ahmad Shah Massoud — who was assassinated in 2001 by Al-Qaeda two days before the September 11 attacks — the National Resistance Front remains defiant despite losing control of Panjshir valley, the group's spokesman said. He spoke to AFP after the Taliban announced an interim government made up of loyalist hardliners.

"The narrative of a modern Taliban is over... there is no Taliban in favour of an inclusive government," Ali Maisam Nazary said. "This is going to become a pariah government, an illegitimate government... just look at the amount of terrorists in this cabinet. And we expect they are going to reform?" Nazary said the new government does not represent Afghanistan's diverse ethnic mosaic. All the top posts went to key leaders from the Taliban and the Haqqani network — the violent faction known for carrying out some of Afghanistan's bloodiest bombings and suicide attacks in recent years. No women were included.

In the 20 years the Taliban spent as insurgents, Afghan society transformed into a much younger population with a taste for greater freedom, Nazary added. As a result, the Taliban will struggle to force people into accepting their restrictive interpretation of sharia law. "You have a population that hates them. How are they going to rule a country like this?"

Nazary said the protesters were emboldened by Massoud's audio message on Monday asking Afghans to "begin a national uprising for the dignity, freedom and prosperity of our country". AFP

Ex-Afghan president Ghani apologises

Kabul: Former president Ashraf Ghani, who fled the country last month as the Taliban entered Kabul, apologised Wednesday to the Afghan people, because "I could not make it end differently". In a statement on Twitter, Ghani said he left at the urging of the palace security in order to avoid the risk of bloody street fighting, and again denied stealing millions from the treasury. AFP

16 die as floods swamp hosp in central Mexico

TULA

TORRENTIAL rains in central Mexico suddenly flooded a hospital, killing 16 patients, possibly due to the loss of oxygen equipment as the power went out, the national Social Security Institute said.

A video posted on the agency's social media feed said about 40 other patients survived as waters rose swiftly in downtown Tula, about 60 miles (100 km) north of Mexico City, and flooded the public hospital around 6am. Video recorded inside the hospital showed knee-deep water as staff frantically tried to move patients.

Later, emergency personnel evacuated the hospital, loading patients into ambulances to be taken to other health centres. IMSS Director Zoe Robledo said the waters knocked out power to the area as well as the hospital's generators. He said the hospital had been caring for 56 patients, about half of them suffering from Covid.

The town's central market was completely flooded. In one location beside the river, a jumble of semi-trailers, buses, tanker trucks and cars lodged against each other semi-submerged at odd angles in rushing water. Residents carried boxes and bags of salvaged belongings to higher ground. AP

TRIAL OPENS FOR ACCUSED IN PARIS ATTACKS OF 2015

PARIS

THE trial of 20 men accused in the Islamic State group's coordinated attacks on Paris in 2015 that transformed France opened Wednesday in a custom-built complex embedded within a 13th-century courthouse. Nine gunmen and suicide bombers struck within minutes of each other at several locations around Paris on November 13, 2015, leaving 130 people dead. It was the deadliest violence to strike France since World War II.

The worst carnage was at the Bataclan concert hall, where three men with assault rifles gunned down scores of people and grabbed a handful of hostages. Other attackers targeted the national soccer stadium, where the president was attending a game, and as well as cafes filled with people on a mild autumn night.

The lone surviving attacker, Salah Abdeslam, is the key defendant. But he has so far refused to speak to investigators, denying them answers to many of the questions about the attacks and the people who planned them. Abdeslam, whose brother was among the suicide bombers, appeared wearing a black short-sleeved shirt and black trousers, his long hair tied back. When asked to state his profession, he declared he was "a fighter for Islamic State" after intoning a prayer. Abdeslam, who fled the night if the attacks after ditching his car and a malfunctioning suicide vest, is the only defendant charged with murder. The other defendants present face lesser terrorism charges. The presiding judge, Jean-Louis Peries, acknowledged the extraordinary nature of the attacks, which changed security in Europe and France's political landscape, and the trial to come. France only emerged from the state of emergency declared in the wake of the attacks in 2017, after incorporating many of the harshest measures into law. AP

Nod to ₹10,683-cr incentive for textile manufacturing

Manufacturers to get up to 11% incentive on incremental production

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

THE Cabinet has approved a production-linked incentive (PLI) scheme for man-made fibers and technical textiles sectors, which will provide incentives worth ₹10,683 crore to industry over five years.

"It is estimated that over the period of five years, the PLI scheme for textiles will lead to fresh investment of more than ₹19,000 crore, cumulative turnover of over ₹3 lakh crore will be achieved under this scheme and, will create additional employment opportunities of more than 7.5 lakh jobs in this sector and several lakhs more for supporting activities. The textiles industry predominantly employs women, therefore, the scheme will empower women and increase their participation in formal economy," Textile Minister Piyush Goyal told reporters after the Cabinet meet.

The scheme will help India to regain its exports share, which it is fast losing out over the past decade to Bangladesh and Thailand.

"PLI scheme for textiles will promote production of high value MMF fabric, garments and technical textiles in country. The incentive structure has been so formulated that industry will be encouraged to invest in fresh capacities in these segments," Goyal said.

The new PLI proposes to incentivise eligible manufacturers by paying between 3% and 11% incentive on incremental production. It has two categories of investments above ₹100 crore and ₹300 crore. In addition, priority will be given for investment in 'aspirational districts', small towns, and rural areas. "Companies which will set up factories in aspirational districts and Tier-III and Tier-IV will be given priority while allocating incentives. The number of jobs created will also be taken into consideration," Goyal said.

He said the scheme will positively impact states like Gujarat, UP, Maharashtra, Tamil Nadu, Punjab, AP, Telangana, Odisha. The scheme has generated positive response from domestic industry.

"The MMF apparels account for 20% of our overall apparel exports and we should increase its share to 50% in next 5 years," said Federation of Indian Export Organisations (FIEO) President A Sakthivel.

iD Fresh Food files plaint against FB post

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Bengaluru

READY-TO-EAT South Indian brand iD Fresh Food has filed a complaint before the cybercrime police, Bengaluru and the Whatsapp grievance cell against the alleged misleading information on social media and Whatsapp groups over the content of its products.

The 15-year-old company found itself in the thick of controversy after a Facebook post alleged that the idli, dosa-batter of the company contains animal extracts, including cow bones and calf rennets to make the batter voluminous. The viral social media post also alleged that the company employs only Muslims and is Halal certified.

'WE USE ONLY VEGETARIAN INGREDIENTS'

"We, at iD Fresh Food, would once again like to outrightly deny any of these baseless allegations... We would like to reiterate that iD uses only vegetarian ingredients to make its products," the company said.

"All the Chennai stores or supermarkets are selling the idly/dosa paste produced and marketed by iD Foods!! Do you know they mix cows bones & calf rennet to make volume of the batter? How many really knows that this company employs only Muslims and it is Halal certified?" as per the social media post.

The Bengaluru-headquartered firm termed these posts as malicious and misleading adding that the firm would take a legal route to tackle the issue. "We, at iD Fresh Food, would once again like to outrightly deny any of these baseless allegations that are purely intended at maligning the brand. We would like to reiterate that iD uses only vegetarian ingredients to make its products," the company said in response to an emailed query sent by the TNIE.

"iD idly dosa batter is made from rice, urad dal, water and fenugreek only, which are 100% natural and vegetarian agri-commodities. There are no animal extracts used in any of our products. We proudly manufacture healthy and authentic Indian products (with no chemicals or preservatives) inside our world-class, state-of-the-art manufacturing facilities that are fully compliant with the Food Safety Management System and carry the Food Safety System Certification (FSSC) 22000 certification," it added.

The brand has been eyeing overseas markets including UAE, US after its success beyond South Indian markets.

Crypto bill cleared from finmin, Cabinet nod awaited: Jayant Sinha

BISMAH MALIK @ Bengaluru

AMIDST a lingering confusion over the fate of cryptocurrencies legislation in India, the Member of Parliament and the Chairperson of the standing committee on finance, Jayant Sinha, on Wednesday said that the finance ministry has sent the crypto legislation to the Cabinet and it will introduced in the parliament soon.

In a fireside chat with the Zebpay CEO Avinash Shekhar, Sinha said that the regulations around cryptocurrencies in India may follow several global protocols but will have to be unique to the country. The statement comes after a prolonged silence from the government over the fate of digital currencies even as the RBI as well as a committee set up by the finance ministry had recommended banning the virtual tokens.

"The government is looking at the virtual currencies keeping in mind both the growth this asset has seen over the last few years and the concerns around national security," Sinha said at a webinar organized by the Internet and Mobile Association of India.

"The regulations on various financial instruments for the past decade under the Modi government have been very progressive. From Aadhaar-enabled low-cost payment systems to UPI and digital KYCs, we have built the most affordable, cutting-edge financial innovation system," he added.

Currently, the legislation, Sinha said, has been sent to the Cabinet after which it will be introduced in the parliament and may soon be implemented as a law. Without elaborating on the contents of the legislation, Sinha said that India's financial systems are unique and cannot replicate countries like the US and Japan. "Here we do have restriction when it comes to trading in foreign currencies. The government will have to walk a tightrope balancing both financial innovations as well as the security concerns," he added.

The crypto industry leaders have been advocating the classification of bitcoin as an asset class and markets regulator Sebi overseeing the regulations. "The possibility of suggesting amendments in the said legislation arises after the industry leaders meet with the expert committee set up by the finance ministry," Sinha said.

NEW EXCHANGE

On way, a fungible trade platform for crypto users

PAVAN LALL @ Mumbai

WAZIRX, the country's largest cryptocurrency exchange both by number of users and value of trades, is pushing deeper into setting up separate platforms for fungible trading in art and music, just days after the government announced that they would be creating broad classifications and categories for crypto.

Nischal Shetty, founder and CEO of WazirX, says that "cryptocurrency is here to stay, now more than ever."

He expects that there will not be one encompassing law or regulation and that there will be separate frameworks for different parts of the ecosystem.

Shetty adds that if in the last 2-3 years, it's been all about crypto trading and the focus was mostly by traders and the getting into investments, then the last year non fungible tokens or NFT's have shown they need not only be about investments but also about a platform for trading alternate assets. "We see ourselves as a window to the crypto world," he said.

With eight million users, WazirX has seen trading volumes of around $21 billion dollars in the last nine months.

In June, WazirX launched a market place for artists and cartoonists. They selected 150 artists whose work they will be creating an NFT exchange for. The forum for art went live on June 1 and in July it added a category for music, and electronic dance music performers. Vishakha Singh, Vice President of WazirX NFT marketplace, says that on the market place people can buy and sell digital art or creations.

Banks, financial institutions and precious stores of value like gold and silver have taken centuries to gain trust and credibility as store of value so what makes purveyors of crypto exchanges and currency think they can achieve the same in a few years or months? "The first hurdle would be educating the masses, which is happening," Singh says, adding that right now it is a starting point and cannot be compared to burnished institutions. However, she maintains that blockchain is transparent.

Crypto has been around for a decade now and the way that NFT exchanges are headed could mean that a writers book cover or a singers first draft of a hit song can become tradable.

How does trading on an NFT platform work? Singh explains that if a person sees the first edition of a Spiderman comic landing up on an exchange as a one of a kind item with an NFT to it, he or she can purchase it through a wallet that is used to buy WazirX currency that is in turn used to buy the NFT. That NFT can then in turn be used to trade buy or sell other items in that ecosystem.

Mutual fund industry sees record SIP inflows; AUM grows over 3%

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

THE asset under management (AUM) of the mutual fund industry crossed ₹36 lakh crore in August driven by high retail participation especially through systematic investment plans (SIPs).

According to the monthly data released by industry body Association of Mutual Funds in India (AMFI), SIP contribution in mutual funds in August was at an all-time high of ₹9,923.15 crore.

The industry saw 24.92 lakh new SIPs registered during August, highest-ever in a month, taking the total number of SIP accounts to a record high of 4.32 crore.

In the past one year, 1.02 crore SIP accounts have been added by the industry. Since April 2021 alone, 53 lakh SIP accounts have been added.

SIPs now account for ₹5.26 lakh crore in AUM, almost a third of retail AUMs of ₹17.15 lakh crore.

Systematic investment plans, or SIPs, is a way of investing a fixed amount of money in mutual funds schemes at a regular interval. Monthly SIPs are also the most popular way of investment in mutual funds, especially, equity or equity-oriented mutual funds.

"Retail AUM at ₹17.15 lakh crore, almost half of total industry AUMs, healthy rise in SIP Accounts and monthly SIP contribution being at an all-time high are reflective of rising retail preference towards mutual funds as a long-term wealth creation avenue," N S Venkatesh, Chief Executive, Association of Mutual Funds in India said.

The total assets of mutual funds at the end of August 2021 stood at ₹36.59 lakh crore compared to ₹35.31 lakh crore at the end of July, registering a monthly growth of 3.6%.

Equity funds saw a net inflow of ₹8,667 crore during the month while hybrid funds (asset allocation funds, balanced funds, arbitrage funds, etc) witnessed a net inflow of ₹18,705 crore.

LML eyes comeback with electric 2-wheeler

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

ERSTWHILE two-wheeler manufacturer LML is eyeing a comeback on Indian roads with an extensive plan to foray into India's EV (electric vehicle) two-wheeler sector.

While the company did not specify when it will launch its first product or how much it is investing to make EVs, it talked about introducing "a disruptive product to reignite the light of its old establishment with a bang".

The company in a statement said that it is laying the groundwork to re-appear in the market with a different set of opportunities to leverage and that the brand is backed up by large investments with an investing partner.

Yogesh Bhatia, MD & CEO, LML Electric said, "We're extremely excited to make a significant comeback. We are actively working on the product development strategies to introduce a highly innovative product equipped with the best of technology to strengthen the urban mobility space. We would like to empower the upper-middle and urban segments of society with our range of premium products to drive the change."

The Kanpur-based company, which used to make the iconic LML Vespa in collaboration with Italy's Piaggio & C Spa, used to rule two-wheeler market in India along with Bajaj Chetak. However, LML's association with Piaggio ended in 1999, post which the brand could never bounce back to its previous glory.

Once the Japanese product Honda Activa disrupted the scooter market, it was game over for the Vespa and the Chetak. While LML remained visible for several years, its ageing product lineup and increasing losses forced it to file for insolvency in 2017.

COVID IMPACT

India Cements to repay same debt as last yr

INDIA Cements has said it hopes to pay similar levels of debt it had paid last year due to the impact of the Covid-19 pandemic. The city-headquartered company repaid ₹551 crore as debt in FY 2020-21, the vice-chairman of the firm N Srinivasan said on Wednesday.

"Last year, the company repaid ₹551 crore debt, which is quite substantial. This year, it hopes to repay an equal amount depending on the impact of the Covid-19 pandemic," he said while addressing shareholders at the 75th AGM held through virtual platform.

He said there were signs of the Covid-19 situation easing and the demand was picking up. But, he said, there was an uncertainty over the possibility of the third wave of the virus. "Cement consumption is expected to go up with the Central government increasing the investment in infrastructure projects," he said.

Citing reports of a normal monsoon this year, he said he hoped the farm sector and rural economy would do better thereby creating additional rural demand.

"With relocation of workplaces and increasing work from home concept, there is an increased house-building and construction activity in urban and semi-urban centres," he said.

On the performance of the company, he said it reported an impressive performance despite the onslaught of the second wave of the pandemic. The company operated 50% of the facilities as against the 35% in the first quarter of last year. PTI

AS the deadline for Infosys to fix the glitches in Income Tax portal is approaching, the finance ministry on Wednesday said it is continuously engaged with the company to ensure a smooth filing experience to taxpayers and a number of issues have been resolved.

"A number of technical issues are being progressively addressed and there has been a positive trend reflected in the statistics of the various filings on the portal," the finance ministry said in a statement on Wednesday.

After the newly-launched website for the income tax had stopped working, the government had summoned top officials of Infosys Ltd and given them time till September 15 to fix the glitches.

Citing statistics, the ministry said that over 8.83 crore unique taxpayers have logged in till 7th September, 2021 with a daily average of over 15.55 lakh in September, 2021.

Hiring: LinkedIn a preferred talent hunting ground for Indian start-ups

SAMIKSHA GOEL @ New Delhi

THERE has been a hiring frenzy across the Indian start-up ecosystem in the last few months, as start-ups are looking to scale up and doling out extravagant packages to get the right talent. But where are they hiring from?

The various start-ups that TNIE talked to, mention LinkedIn as their primary or major source of hiring. CEOs and HR managers of start-ups have been on a look-out and are actively engaging with profiles that have showcased the required skill set. In fact, CEOs and founders are directly reaching out to candidates through LinkedIn direct messages.

The Founder & CEO of Pee Safe, Vikas Bagaria, says, among the various talent sourcing platforms, LinkedIn is the most prominent source of hiring for the start-up.

"During the last hiring cycle, the company sourced 80% of the talent from LinkedIn. Pee Safe leverages LinkedIn for not only hiring potential talent, but also engaging with customers."

FinTech unicorn Razorpay has onboarded more than 500 employees so far in 2021. The overall hiring at the start-up, through platforms like LinkedIn, is higher than 40%, according to Chitbhanu Nagri, Senior Vice President - People Operations, Razorpay.

Founder and CEO of WareIQ, Harsh Vaidya, finds LinkedIn more effective for non technical hires. He explains, "The information on LinkedIn is updated compared to CVs on job portals. Though technical teams seem to be less engaged in LinkedIn and they are more active on platforms like GitHub, AngelList and other niche tech communities."

"Owing to the fact that you can narrow down candidates based on various criteria like work-ex, skills, location etc. it makes outreach and scheduling interviews much easier than traditional avenues," Vaidya adds.

Darshith Satheesh, HR Head, Portea Medical, also mentions that the healthtech start-up uses LinkedIn for hiring people at the mid-management level. "About 40% of our employees come from this channel," he says. Portea's main source of hiring, however, is its in-house recruitment team.

Raghu Ravinutala, CEO and Co-Founder, Yellow.ai, says the start-up uses a mix of sources including incentive-based internal referral programmes, online platforms like LinkedIn and their own website. Yellow.ai has hired over 300 people across the globe in the last 12 months. "We can estimate that 80% of our hiring is happening via LinkedIn," he says.

Wrestler Vinesh Phogat undergoes elbow surgery

Star Indian wrestler Vinesh Phogat on Wednesday underwent surgery on her right elbow, days after pulling out of the World Championship trials here. She had pulled out of the World Championship trials here on August 31 after competing in her opening bout. "Elbow surgery done! No matter how many times I fall, I will still rise," Vinesh tweeted.

DHONI TURNS MENTOR, ASHWIN BACK

VENKATA KRISHNA B @Chennai

RAVICHANDRAN Ashwin's recall to the T20I squad after a gap of four years and MS Dhoni's return to the dressing room as mentor headlined India's World Cup squad announcement on Wednesday. Keeping the slow and low conditions that will be on offer in the United Arab Emirates (UAE), where the tournament will be held between October 17-November 14, five spinners have been picked with Yuzvendra Chahal's exclusion the surprise element.

The 15-member squad, which will be led by Virat Kohli, comprises of four batsmen, two wicketkeepers, three pacers and as many all-rounders. Among those who were expected to make the 15, but ended up as reserves are Shardul Thakur, Deepak Chahar and Shreyas Iyer. They were part of the set-up in the recent months.

Although in Rahul Chahar, Axar Patel and Mohammed Shami, there were surprise picks, none is bigger than Ashwin. The off-spinner last played a T20I in 2017 in the West Indies before India started preferring wrist-spinners. However, with Chahal and Kuldeep Yadav struggling of late and not being handy with the bat, the team has been looking at Ravindra Jadeja and Washington Sundar as alternatives. And with the latter yet to recover from injury, India have opted to include Ashwin.

HOW INDIA STACK UP FOR T20 WC

While other teams have more explosive openers and hitters throughout the line-up, the Indian team sacrifices some of that for stability. However, the one difference is most of their batters can move up the gears with a minimum of fuss. All of KL Rahul, Rohit Sharma, Suryakumar Yadav and Virat Kohli, who should be the top four (not in this order), are blessed with this ability so they won't be too concerned with starts that read 22 for no loss after three. Considering the format is all about match-ups, expect a prominent role for both Yadav as well as Rishabh Pant in the middle overs as they are two players more than capable against spin as well as high pace.

They have one of the world's best death bowlers in Jasprit Bumrah and one of the world's best opening acts in Bhuvneswar Kumar. The latter provides breakthroughs while the former asphyxiates the opposition with his line and length. That these two will bowl eight of the 20 overs is a dead cert. Now that he has been included expect R Ashwin to play, especially in the business end of the tournament. With pitches expected to become tired, he could come into his own. The offspinner also allows the management more balance as he can open with the new ball and finish his quota off overs at the death. The thinking mirrors this. There is just one back-up pacer in Mohd Shami but as many as three spinners who may not get a game in Rahul Chahar, Axar Patel and Varun Chakravarthy.

These two, Hardik Pandya and Ravindra Jadeja, in all probability will be sure starters as they give the team much needed balance. They will play the finisher's role as both are clean hitters of the ball. Pandya will be used as a floater and if he is fit enough to bowl, will be one of the six bowling options. Jadeja will be the one who will connect the middle-order with the lower-order and can be banked to fill his quota of four overs. They also provide the depth in the batting that the team has been searching off late. Shardul Thakur's red-ball heroics has earned him a place in the stand-by list.

SQUAD Virat Kohli (Capt), Rohit Sharma (vc), KL Rahul, Suryakumar Yadav, Rishabh Pant (wk), Ishan Kishan (wk), Hardik Pandya, Ravindra Jadeja, Rahul Chahar, Ravichandran Ashwin, Axar Patel, Varun Chakravarthy, Jasprit Bumrah, Bhuvneshwar Kumar, Mohd Shami.

Stand-bys: Shreyas Iyer, Shardul Thakur, Deepak Chahar.

Wrestling nationals from Nov 19-21 in UP

FIROZ MIRZA @ Chennai

THE Wrestling Federation of India (WFI) has announced dates for the 2021 Senior National Wrestling Championship and sent invitations to the affiliated units including the Railway Sports Promotion Board (RSPB) and Service Sports Promotion Board (SSCB). As per the invitation, the nationals is slated from November 19 to 21 at Nandini Nagar Sports Complex, Nawabganj, Gonda (Uttar Pradesh).

This will be the second senior nationals to be held this year as the federation had organised the 2020 championships, which had to be postponed due to the raging Covid-19 pandemic, earlier this year.

"State units have to send their respective entries latest by November 4. Due to the Covid situation, each association can send a maximum of 10 wrestlers and two coaches in each style (freestyle, Greco-Roman and women's wrestling) except for the top three finishers in the previous edition, who can send two wrestlers in each weight category," a WFI source told this daily.

RSPB, SSCB and Haryana had finished on the podium in freestyle while the first two along with Punjab had achieved the top three positions in Greco-Roman in the 2020 edition. Haryana, RSPB and Delhi had finished first, second and third respectively in the women's category in the previous edition. Amethi (UP) will host the U-23 Senior Freestyle, Greco-Roman and Women National Championship from September 16 to 19. Meanwhile, the national camp for the wrestlers selected for the World Championships scheduled in Oslo, Norway, from October 2 to 10 is expected to begin soon.

NAT'L SPORTS AWARDS

DOPE CHEATS ELIGIBLE

ENS/AGENCIES @ Chennai/New Delhi

IN a surprise move, the sports ministry has made dope-tainted athletes and coaches eligible for national sports awards. In a circular, the ministry has said that these athletes "shall be eligible to be considered for the award after completion of their sentence/penalty/suspension/ban period". However, it said those against whom enquiry is pending/ongoing will not be considered. The ministry was quite strict with dope offenders and made them ineligible for consideration. .

Depay hat-trick in Dutch win

PARIS: Reigning champions France beat Finland 2-0 in a WC qualifier on Tuesday thanks to Antoine Griezmann's double strike to snap a five-game winless streak while Scotland kept their hopes alive with a 1-0 win in Austria. In other action, Portugal and the Netherlands stayed on track to reach the finals, with Memphis Depay bagging a hat-trick for the Dutch in a 6-1 demolition of Turkey.

India's reverse swing on the mark, says Wood

ASHIM SUNAM @ Bengaluru

INDIA pacers have put on a good show in the ongoing Test series against England. The likes of Jasprit Bumrah, Mohammed Shami, Mohammed Siraj have been quite relentless with the red cherry. When other bowlers have got a chance, they delivered too. Take for instance Umesh Yadav, who took six wickets in the last game at Oval or for that matter Shardul Thakur has also taken some important wickets.

It is this depth in quality, which has made India look even more formidable in the series. Be it their good use of bouncers or their control and accuracy, the pacers, with great variety in their attack, have troubled the opposition at will. England pacer Mark Wood has been impressed with India's attack and even more so with Bumrah, who has scalped 18 wickets in this series.

"I respect this India pace attack immensely, It is highly skilled. They have got pace. They are all slightly different with different angles, actions. It still flabbergasts me that with five steps, Bumrah can bowl at 90 miles an hour. It is not great to face as a batsman, but as an opposition player, you can give them huge respect. Shami, I have been immensely impressed - his skill level, his accuracy. It has been tough for batsmen on both sides," Wood said in a virtual interaction.

The Indian pace battery stepped up a gear or so when the need arose on the fifth and final day of the fourth Test match on Monday. In a pitch, which was batting friendly, the Indian pacers made the ball talk, with their effective reverse swing. Bumrah was one of the biggest exponents, with some brilliant control, testing the Englishmen.

"I thought the way Indian bowled reverse swing was top draw and obviously Bumrah in particular. That spell he bowled was outstanding. And as a fellow fast bowler, to watch that, you have to give him huge respect," said Wood.

Teen Fernandez advances to SF

AFP @ New York

CANADIAN 19-year-old Leylah Fernandez delivered another stunner to reach the last four of a Grand Slam for the first time. Fernandez, who had already ousted defending champion Naomi Osaka and three-time Slam winner Angelique Kerber, defeated Ukraine's fifth-seeded Elina Svitolina 6-3, 3-6, 7-6 (5).

"I told myself to trust my shots," Fernandez said. "Even if I lose, I've got to go for it. And I'm glad I did." Fernandez, ranked 73rd, was inspired by pre-match strategy from her father/coach Jorge, a former Ecuadoran football player. Fernandez booked a semifinal matchup against second seed Aryna Sabalenka of Belarus, who defeated Barbora Krejcikova 6-1, 6-4.

The penguins are the subject of a political row in Maharashtra, where the Congress has criticised the estimated ₹15 crore upkeep cost over three years of the flightless birds. Mumbai's civic body responded that the zoo's income went up from ₹2.1 crore in 2014-2017 to ₹14.4 in 2017-2020, the sharp increase coinciding with the arrival of the seven penguins in March 2017 | PTI

Research sets new target for leaving oil, coal in ground

Growing proportion of fossil fuel reserves needs to remain unextracted

DATA

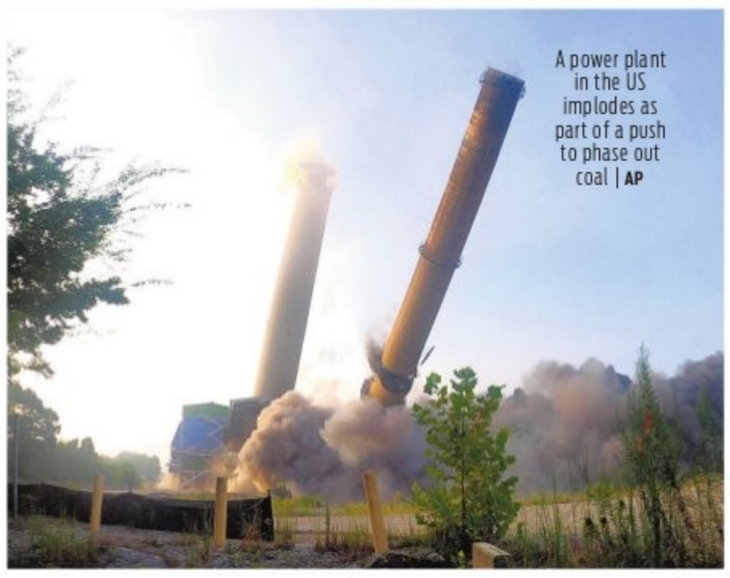
RESEARCHERS who estimate how much of the world's coal, oil and natural gas should be left unburned to slow the increase in climate-changing gases in the atmosphere say even more of these fossil fuels should be left in the ground.

The researchers, from University College London, say earlier estimates, published in 2015, had to be updated.

They now calculate that nearly 60% of the world's oil and gas reserves and 90% of the coal reserves need to stay in the ground by 2050 to meet climate goals of the Paris Climate Agreement.

Those limits would give the world a 50-50 chance of limiting global warming to 1.5 degrees Celsius compared to pre-industrial times, as per their study in the journal Nature.

"We believe our new paper adds further weight to recent research that indicates the global oil and fossil methane gas production needs to peak now," Dan Welsby, lead author and an energy and environment researcher at the University College London, told a news conference. "We found that global production needs decline at an average annual rate of around 3% (through) 2050."



A power plant in the US implodes as part of a push to phase out coal | AP

The last study like this was several months before world leaders drafted the 2015 Paris accord and pledged to reduce warming to well below 2 degrees Celsius (3.6 degrees Fahrenheit), but preferably to limit it to 1.5 degrees Celsius.

That study, also conducted by University College London scientists, looked at how much countries would have to limit fossil fuel emissions to hold warming to 2 degrees Celsius. They found that a third of oil reserves, half of gas reserves and 80% of coal reserves would need to stay in the ground.

Emissions reductions proposed in this latest study dramatically increase the amount of fossil fuels that would need to stay in the ground to meet Paris targets.

30% decline in Ganga fish species, govt data says

CONSERVATION

NEW DELHI: In a worrying trend there has been nearly 30 per cent reduction in total fish species in the Ganga river between 2016-2020, owing to changes in the hydrological structure due to dam construction, land modification, pollution, industrial effluents and illegal fishing activities, according to a central government assessment.

The Central Inland Fisheries Research Institute, Kolkata, under the Ministry of Agriculture carried quarterly field sampling from April 2016 to March, 2020 to understand the distribution and current status of IUCN Red-listed fish species along the entire stretch of Ganga.

The assessment shows that the status of fishes being threatened is a major concern nationwide, particularly in the Ganga. From the present study, a total of 190 -- 104 freshwater and 86 brackish water -- fish species were recorded from River Ganga, of which 18 are categorized under IUCN Red list.

Earlier 143 freshwater fish species were reported from the Ganga, among which 29 — 10 fish species were endangered and 19 were vulnerable.

FACT OF THE MATTER

HIV, TB fight sees setbacks

HEALTH

The Covid-19 pandemic had a "devastating" impact on the fight against HIV, tuberculosis and malaria in 2020, according to a report released by the Global Fund. Compared with 2019, the number of people reached with HIV prevention and treatment dropped by 11% last year, while HIV testing dropped by 22%. The number of people who received antiretroviral therapy in 2020, rose by 8.8% to 21.9 million. The number of people treated for drug-resistant TB in the countries where the Global Fund invests dropped by 19%, with those on treatment for extensively drug-resistant TB registering a drop of 37%. Interventions to combat malaria "appear to have been less badly affected by Covid-19 than the other two diseases".

Meat & dairy CO2 emissions

CLIMATE

The world's 20 biggest meat and dairy firms are responsible for more greenhouse gas emissions than produced by Germany or Britain, a report said. The 'Meat Atlas' is an annual digest of scientific and official data on meat production and consumption, compiled by research NGO Heinrich-Boll-Stiftung foundation and Friends of the Earth Europe. It calculates a hefty 932 million tonnes of CO2-equivalent emissions from major milk and meat companies, with Brazilian JBS responsible for over a quarter of that. Using the same metric, Germany's total emissions were just over 900 million tonnes, while France and Britain each emit closer to half that amount.

Silicon Valley finds remote work easier to begin than end

Tech firm RunX, which was one of the first to embrace remote work, conducts a video meeting with its employees at a rented office in San Francisco, US | AP

TECHNOLOGY

SAN FRANCISCO: Technology companies that led the charge into remote work as the pandemic unfurled are confronting a new challenge: how, when and even whether they should bring long-isolated employees back to offices that have been designed for teamwork.

"I thought this period of remote work would be the most challenging year-and-half of my career, but it's not," said Brent Hyder, the chief people officer for business software maker Salesforce. "Getting everything started back up the way it needs to be is proving to be even more difficult."

That transition has been complicated by the rapid spread of the delta variant. Microsoft has pushed those dates back to October while Apple, Google, Facebook, Amazon and a growing list of others have already decided wait until next year. Given how they set the tone for remote work, tech companies' return-to-office policies will likely have ripple effects across other industries. Employers' next steps could redefine how and where people work. "We have moved beyond the theme of remote work being a temporary thing," says Laura Boudreau, a Columbia University assistant economics professor who studies workplace issues. The longer the pandemic has stretched on, she says, the harder it's become to tell employees to come back, particularly full time.

Most tech jobs are tailor made for remote work. Yet most major tech companies insist that their employees should be ready to work in the office two or three days each week after the pandemic is over.

The main reason: Tech companies have believed that employees clustered together in a physical space will swap ideas and spawn innovations that probably wouldn't have happened in isolation. But the concept of "water cooler innovation" may be overblown, says Christy Lake, chief people officer for business software maker Twilio.

"There is no data that supports that really happens in real life, and yet we all subscribe to it," Lake says. "You can't put the genie back in the bottle and tell people, 'Oh you have to be back in the office or innovation won't happen.' "

Switching to hybrid work is ideal for people like Kelly Soderlund, a mother of two children. She couldn't wait to return when the company partially reopened in June, because she missed the built-in buffer that her roughly one-hour commute provided between her personal and professional life. "When I don't have that, I wake up in the morning, I start doing work and I take my kids to their camp... and I work (again)". So, it feels like it's work all the time."

Good Intention Always Brings Victory

My Esteemed Investors & Kartavyayogi Worker Friends,

For past some days, some unscrupulous elements have been propagating that our organization is not making repayments to our esteemed investors. In this regard, it is to be informed that repayments are being made to the esteemed investors but certainly there has been a situation of delayed repayments. However, in case of delay the esteemed investors are being paid interest for the delayed period.

Why Delay In Payment

Due to the embargo imposed by Hon'ble Supreme Court that if Sahara Group sells or mortgages any of its property, then the money generated through this goes to Sahara-SEBI account and not even one rupee can be used for public repayment.

This way our amount with interest deposited in Sahara-SEBI account has been more than ₹24,000 crore while SEBI after advertising in around 150 newspapers throughout the country for 4 times could pay only around ₹150 crore in over the last 8 years.

It is a typical case of double payment of single liability.

Our Intention

Sahara India Pariwar is one such organization whose management has openly been putting its inconveniences and problems before its esteemed investors and workers from time to time. We deem it our responsibility to keep you apprised of the prevailing situations. Our intention has never ever been wrong. In 44 years of its existence, barring the last eight years when there has been a situation of delayed payments because of the embargo by Hon'ble Supreme Court in Sahara-SEBI case, no one's payment was delayed before nor will it be delayed in future. If our intentions had been wrong, we would have adopted an escapist attitude in the year 2014 when the organization was suddenly struck by enormous problems. We could have hastily sold our assets at throw away prices and got ourselves free from all our problems by depositing money with SEBI. But we didn't do so considering the best interests of our organization, our esteemed investors and our workers. In the past, assets of many companies were taken over by the Government, yet even after that the esteemed investors couldn't get even a single rupee back in more than two decades. It means all your payments have to be made by Sahara India Pariwar only.

Overseas–Air Services

In my last address I told you in detail how our business activities had been affected due to Corona pandemic in last one and half year, and how we couldn't complete our those projects through which we expected to get money from, to repay our esteemed investors. I had also said that if the situation got normal and business operations around the world were back on track after recovering from the Corona pandemic, we would be in a position to repay in the months of July, August and September, 2021. At that time we had hoped that overseas travel will restart, but it didn't happen and even today, international air travel has not resumed. Now the Government of India has extended the curtailment of international flying till 30th September.

I had told you that most of our business transactions had happened overseas from which we would have received sufficient funds. But due to Corona, our representatives and those of other countries are not able to visit each other and the agreements are not getting finalized. Hence, we are not able to get adequate funds.

₹24,000 Crore

I had also told you the places, including the Sahara-SEBI account (more than ₹24,000 crores), where our funds were stuck. We assumed there would be progress in this direction and we would get our money that we were to use to make payments to our esteemed investors, but the adverse circumstances kept coming in our way. Due to Corona we didn't get a date of hearing from the Hon'ble Supreme Court in the last 14 months. Despite all these things our efforts are going on.

We are hopeful that the situation will normalize soon and our business activities will speed up again, which will take our deals to finalization and we will get enough money that will enable us to provide relief to all.

Because of the prevailing circumstances, at present we are not in a position to tell you how long it will take to happen.

However, we assure you that your payment is our responsibility which we will fulfill at all cost and by all means and very soon we will be before you with good news.

My regards to all the elders and loving blessings to the younger ones!

Always Yours,

Subrata Roy Sahara

As the festive season rolls out with Gowri habba and Ganesha Chaturthi, CE speaks to popular Bengalureans who give a sneak-peek into their plans this year

FESTS & FEASTS

Padmavati Rao, film and theatre personality

When my children were young, we always made our own Ganesha idol using clay. It wasn't fancy but it was the process of making it that was enjoyable. That slowly graduated to a leaf Ganesha as well; sometimes we used to draw it too. It was a great time for us. This year because of Covid-19, we haven't finalised what we want to do yet. We might go to my cousin's house on Friday evening and just have a good time.

Apoorva, actor

An orchestra, dance and large Ganesha idols. That's how the Gowri-Ganesha habba is celebrated in my hometown, Mysuru. I used to participate in dance performances and tag along with several devotees for the visarjan. However, the health crisis has changed the way we celebrate. I am ensuring that the festival is celebrated in a simple way using eco-friendly Gowri and Ganesha idols which we will later immerse at home.

Kushee Ravi, actor

The Gowri-Ganesha festival has always been a grand affair at home. I've just finished shopping for the festival and have brought home eco-friendly Gowri and Ganesha idols. I still remember the way we would celebrate Ganesha utsav in my school, Oxford School in JP Nagar, where musical concerts were hosted every year. Several top actors and musicians from across India would perform, and I would stand amidst the crowd, grooving to the tunes with friends. I really hope that someday soon I can go back to my school as a guest to witness this again.

Pruthvi Ambaar, actor

We will have a simple Ganesha puja at home this time, although I've always celebrated the festival at pandals and utsavs. I still remember my public shows in Udupi, Mangaluru, and Kasargod, when I was working as a host and would travel to different districts in Karnataka, especially the coastal belt, and visit pandals to take part in cultural activities. It's actually disappointing that the old vibe and energy is missing these days with the pandemic having set in.

Mayuri Upadhya, dancer

Ganesha Chaturthi was such a fun festival when we were younger. Like Halloween, we would go around the neighbourhood finding out if they'd kept an idol. And we'd be mesmerised with the variety. As a kid, I always associated Ganesha with a teddy bear, so I loved the festival! This year, fortunately and unfortunately, I will be working. But maybe, we'll have a small dinner and pujae in the evening with close family and friends.

In Sanskrit, 'ardha' means half, 'padma' means lotus, 'vriksa' means tree and 'asana' means pose. It is a standing yoga asana that requires both balance and flexibility. It is said to help relieve emotional tension, which can be held unconsciously in the hips. It is also thought to clear and calm the mind by regulating the central nervous system. Different arm variations can be used for additional benefits, as the free hand can be taken into a mudra or lifted to the heart or sky. It is included in the primary series of Ashtanga yoga and provides the foundation for Ardha Baddha Padmottanasana. In Bikram Yoga, it is the preparatory position for toe stand pose.

STEPS

- Begin in Tadasana (Mountain Pose).
- Shift your weight onto your left foot, and then ground down firmly.
- Slowly, bend your right knee up toward your chest. Raise your right foot and gently bring your right heel to rest as high as you can on your left thigh or hip. The sole should be facing the sky, and the top of your foot should rest on your leg or hip.
- If you have no knee pain, then allow your right knee to drop down. Eventually, the bent knee will be in line with the knee of your standing leg, but never force it.
- Hold onto your right foot with your left hand. Draw the hips forward and lengthen your spine.
- Keep your gaze focused on one spot on the floor, about four feet in front of you.
- Bring your right hand to the centre of your chest in half prayer position (Anjali Mudra), if it is possible without dropping your right foot.
- Hold for up to one minute. To release the pose, hold your right foot again with your left hand.
- Gently draw the foot away from your body and lower it to the floor. Stand again in Mountain Pose (Tadasana).
- Repeat on the opposite side for the same time.

BENEFITS

- Helps improve focus, concentration, and sense of balance. Releases emotional tension.
- Strengthens the thighs, calves, ankles, and spine.
- Regular practice of this asana stretches the arms, chest and shoulders.
- This asana energises the entire body.

LIMITATIONS

- People who have been suffering from headache, or high or low blood pressure, insomnia must avoid practising this asana.

'I TRY TO BREATHE LIFE INTO EVERY ROLE I PLAY'

Yogi talks about his upcoming film Lanke, which is all set to hit theatres on Sept 10

CE FEATURES

WITH theatres reopening to 50 per cent capacity in Karnataka, there has been a beeline of films raring to hit the screens. The latest film to join the theatrical release bandwagon is actor Yogi's Lanke, which is set to release on September 10.

Talking to CE about the film, the actor says that despite the delayed release there is a lot of excitement and interest around the film, and he hopes it keeps up the hype surrounding a festive release. "Lanke is a film, which we have been holding for almost 3 years, and along with excitement, there is fear whether people will return to theatres. It is a risk the producer and director Ram Prasad have taken. Having said that, we are glad that our film Lanke is leading by example, and hope others follow soon."

Lanke as a name has a lot of significance and holds strong relevance to our mythology, and according to Yogi, Lanke will remind us of Ramayana, and how some principles of that era still exist today among the society. "The title Lanke very well is apt to the story, which debates about the traits of Rama and Ravana, and good and evil," he says. Yogi reminisces about his characters from Duniya and Sidilingu, and how these roles endeared him to his fans. Yogi takes pride in being known as a versatile actor. "I started as an antagonist, turned hero, played a lover boy, revelled in comedy, and played many interesting characters. That way, I can be known for versatility. I try to breathe life into every role I play, and I have made sure my characters have a connect with the audience" says Yogi.

Backed by Patel Srinivas and Surekha Ram Prasad, Lanke features Krishi Thapanda, Kavya Shetty and the late Sanchari Vijay in prominent roles.

RRR, Gangubai Kathiawadi, Attack to get theatrical releases

CE FEATURES

RRR, Gangubai Kathiawadi and Attack will release in theatres and not on OTT platforms, Pen Studios clarified on Wednesday. It was rumoured that these titles — all co-produced or distributed by Pen — will arrive on streaming platforms due to the COVID-19 pandemic.

"We would like to clarify that Gangubai Kathiawadi, RRR and Attack will release in cinemas. There have been several rumours doing rounds about these films releasing on OTT platforms before cinemas which are untrue. These magnum opus films are made for the big screen experience and would be releasing in theatres," Jayantilal Gada, Chairman and MD, Pen Studios, said in a statement.

RRR has a set release date of October 13. Sanjay Leela Bhansali's Gangubai Kathiawadi was meant to arrive in July but was pushed due to the second wave of the pandemic. Meanwhile, Attack, an action film starring John Abraham, was announced to release in August. It too has been delayed.
